Nine-year-old dials 999 to save her father's life

Quick-thinking daughter grabbed dad's mobile after angina attack

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

A SINGLE father says he owes his life to his nine-year-old daughter after she phoned 999 when he collapsed walking her to school.

Mike Parker, 46, from Kernow Crescent in Fishermead, suffered a severe angina attack as he took his daughter Chantel to school last Wednesday.

Mr Parker was running late for school when he blacked out in Chapter, Coffee Hall.

There was no one around but quick-thinking Chantel Parker, a year five pupil at New Chapter School, kept calm, found her dad's phone in his pocket and immediately called the emergency services.

"I had a collapsing feeling and I was carrying my GTN spray. I had to take it twice but still felt like I was going to collapse," said Mr Parker.

"I fell down. I could not have phoned an ambulance and there was no one around. It was an angina attack – a severe one.

"But Chantel was very courageous. She knew my date of birth, she knew what was wrong with me, she knew what sort of medication I was on. She was like a doctor really."

Mr Parker - who is out of work due to his heart condition and walks his daughter to school as a means of keeping his heart healthy - was in hospital for three days.

After he had a heart attack last year he said Chantel has been more 'aware' about his condition, but her recent calmness in a crisis has 'given me more confidence with my illness'.

He added: "If I'd been on my own I could have died. I now call Chantel my super-daughter."

Chantel said: "I was panicking, but I never showed it. I just knew what to do. At school I had learnt about what to do when people drown, and other things at the safety centre in Kiln Farm. I just wanted to help my dad."

Though her favourite subject at school is art, she has now decided she wants to be a paramedic.

Spokesman for South Central Ambulance Service, Alison Brumfitt, said: "We've had one or two cases like this. We are delighted, particularly when children with parents or relatives with conditions learn what to do and to stay calm. I think children are becoming aware of what their parents need and how to call 999. It's just brilliant and great Chantel wants to be a paramedic. We need more people like her."

Police presence at the gates of Leon School in Bletchley

Police respond to school race aggro

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

POLICE stepped up patrols around a city school after a series of 'racial' incidents involving gangs were reported.

Leon School and Sports College, on Fern Grove, Bletchley, was the centre of several disputes last week.

Bletchley neighbourhood inspector, Inspector Paul Bradford, said that incidents relating to 'inter-gang rivalries that have fallen on racial lines' were exacerbated by people phoning friends who gathered outside the school.

Then on Friday, 13 police officers and two PCSOs were at the school asking all pupils to walk through a 'knife arch' – a metal detector than can sense anyone carrying weapons.

Police say this was arranged months ago and no weapons were found – but were pleased it turned out to be particularly relevant that week.

Insp Bradford said: "A series of events of a relatively minor nature happened in and around Leon School.

"Something happened outside the school and got dragged into Leon. It escalated because people started phoning friends.

"There was a definite level of concern and divisions were along racial lines. That raised community concerns."

He added: "There were some very concerned, very worried people. We responded with high profile patrols."

However Cllr Reg Edwards, whose ward covers Leon, said problems in the area are a thing of the past.

"Don't let's make a mountain out of a molehill. Don't forget the estate's got a very good name now. We don't want to turn the clock back. Everything's hunky dory down there now. Everyone's getting on really well. It's a good estate. You can't decry it. People feel quite safe – no one harasses you, no one confronts you."

Headteacher Simon Viccars said: "Any Leon responses have been in support of Thames Valley Police and their actions over several acts of public disorder that occurred in and around our catchment over the last week or so. Where these have been continued or carried over into school we have reacted within our normal behaviour and sanctions policies."

Mr Viccars would not confirm or deny whether there were children excluded as a result of the incidents.

■ One 15-year-old was arrested for a minor public order offence and has been released on police bail until November 12.

Fag-flicking bus driver fined

A BUS driver who flicked his cigarette butt out of his window has been fined.

Max Boateng, a 49-year-old from Myrtle Bank, Stacey Bushes, was seen in the cab of his bus as he pulled up to a bus stop in the High Street, Woburn Sands on March 17, 2008.

He was fined £265 at Milton Keynes Magistrates Court on Friday.

The court heard how safer communities unit officers witnessed him finish his cigarette and throw the butt onto the road.

The officers made a note of the registration number of the bus in order to speak to him later, but as they were doing so Mr Boateng beckoned them over. He was issued with a £75 Fixed Penalty Notice, but failed to pay even after a reminder was sent to him.

Safer communities enforcement co-ordinator, Shaun Greig, said: "We ran a promotional campaign in Woburn Sands just prior to this incident and the majority of people in the town heeded our advice. "Smoking litter accounts for around 40 per cent of the litter swept from our streets but people are beginning to realise that we, the courts and local people won't stand for it any more. We will continue to carry out litter education and enforcement work around the borough."

Mr Boateng was also ordered to pay £443.59 in legal costs. He was not present at the hearing.

Local man on trial for M40 biker murder

A MAN from Milton Keynes is on trial for charges in connection with the murder of a biker who was shot dead on the M40.

Fifty-two-year-old Malcolm Bull pleaded not guilty to charges of murder and possessing a firearm with intent to endanger life last December.

He appeared for trial alongside six other men at Birmingham Crown Court last week.

The court heard Gerry Tobin, a Hells Angel, was targeted by members of rival gang, the Outlaws, when he was shot while riding on his motorbike along the M40 in Warwickshire in August last year.

The thirty-five-year-old biker from south London was on his way home from Bulldog Bash, a Hells Angel festival held in Long Marston, near Stratford-upon-Avon. A seventh man, from Coventry, has admitted murder and firearms charges.

Mr Bull's full address cannot be published for legal reasons.

The trial, which is due to last six weeks, continues.

Council climbdown on parking tickets

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE
jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

THE council has admitted it was wrong to fine drivers for parking in unmarked bays by the Hub.

After MK NEWS reported that motorists were being ticketed for parking in lay-bys on Witan Gate – even though the bays did not have signs or lines in them – Milton Keynes Council has finally said it 'agrees that there may have been some ambiguity'.

Last week signs were erected in each of the bays stating the loading restrictions.

Having yellow lines running down the road but not in the lay-bys contravened Department for Transport guidelines, as we revealed three months ago.

But the council has now said it has 'looked long and hard at this situation' and will cancel or refund anyone who parked there.

J P Allard, owner of one of the vehicles unfairly fined, said: "Thank you MK NEWS. Common sense has prevailed with an excellent response that helps restore respect for MK Council who at last are applying parking laws fairly in this zone."

Barrie Segal, who founded AppealNow.com said: "It is astonishing that the council took so long to cancel these illegally issued parking tickets when the issue was so clear cut."

Another driver added: "It's nice to see that MK Council and English Partnerships have seen common sense on this, and are prepared to admit that the parking in this area was confusing at the very least."

Student Caroline Grayson, a student at Brighton University, added: "Thank you so much, MK NEWS - you're a star. The fine will now pay for a night out at uni!"

A council spokesman said: "Together with our partners English Partnerships we have looked long and hard at this situation and we agree that there may have been some ambiguity over these lay-bys, caused by the fact that the double yellow lines did not follow the kerb line within the lay-bys.

"Parking tickets were issued to motorists in this area to allow access for emergency vehicles to the hub. Subsequently we have introduced and agreed a new parking scheme outside the hub which is signed accordingly. It now allows limited waiting 1hour max stay Mon-Sun 11am to 6am. Loading only Mon-Sun 6am to 11am.

"As a gesture of goodwill, we will be cancelling and refunding fines only to those motorists who inadvertently parked in these lay-bys.

"However, where people have parked on the pavement in this area, or where they ignore existing or new restrictions, they will still receive a ticket.

"We believe we have the details of those people who we need to contact, but anyone who has received a ticket for parking in these lay-bys, prior to the new waiting restrictions and signage, should contact our parking helpline on MK 252309."

Reporter to argue bugging 'illegal'

A JOURNALIST accused of aiding and abetting misconduct in a public office is set to argue that Thames Valley Police breached her human rights by bugging her conversations.

Sally Murrer, of Whipsnade Road, Kensworth, who works for the Milton Keynes Citizen, is due to appear at Kingston Crown Court in connection with her part in a case against former policeman Mark Kearney.

Mr Kearney, from Old Linslade Road, Heath and Reach, is facing eight counts of wilful misconduct in a public office between July 1, 2006 and May 9, 2007.

According to journalist's magazine Press Gazette, lawyers representing mother of three Murrer will attempt to get the case against her dismissed at a pre-trial hearing later this month.

If they fail the case could go to trial and this may last as long as five weeks.

Ms Murrer denies all three charges against her, which consist of aiding, abetting, counselling or procuring Kearney to commit the offence.

Her solictior told Press Gazette he has not seen that charge used against a journalist before.

Her defence team will argue that Thames Valley Police breached Article 10 of the Human Rights Act when they bugged Mr Kearney's car and listened to his conversations with Ms Murrer.

Mr Kearney hit the headlines at the end of last year over his involvement with Thames Valley Police's bugging of MP Sadiq Khan while on a visit to a friend and constituent being held on terror charges at Woodhill Prison.

Woman motorist dies after collision

A 28-YEAR-OLD woman has died after a collision near Newport Pagnell on Sunday morning.

The woman has been named as Claire Bale from Glazier Drive, Neath Hill.

Officers are appealing for witnesses to the collision that occurred on the A509.

At around 2.24am a blue Ford Escort, which was travelling south towards the A422, collided with a blue Lexus, which was travelling north.

The driver of the Ford Escort, Ms Bale, was taken to Milton Keynes General Hospital where she later died as a result of her injuries.

The male driver of the Lexus and the female passenger of the Ford Escort sustained minor injuries.

The A509 was closed in both directions until 10am to allow the collision investigation team to carry out their work.

Sgt Keith Lavery, investigating, said: "I would like to hear from anyone who saw either vehicle prior to the collision or who witnessed the collision itself."

Call PC Sue Curryer on 0845 8 505 505 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Can't see the trees for the Hub

SIR – How ironic that visitors arriving at Milton Keynes Central don't know where the Hub is, even though it's staring them in the face (Welcome to MK – but where is it?).

I say 'ironic' because these 14-storey developments that have shot up in Central Milton Keynes over the past few years were justified by the likes of Milton Keynes Partnership on the grounds that the centre needed 'landmark buildings' weren't they?

I'm not an architect, but I reckon I could have told everyone from the start thatthe uninspiring Hub architecture wouldn't make the world's most striking landmark.

It would seem the idea behind abandoning the original design guidance for Milton Keynes, which stated that no building should be taller than the tallest tree, wasn't about creating landmarks after all, but cramming more people into Milton Keynes and making more moneyout of it.

In fact, isn't that exactly what these unelected 'partnership' organisations are for?

Gareth Lewis
New Bradwell

Location? Location?

SIR – I work in Central Milton Keynes as a building manager/security.

I am constantly being asked for the locations of buildings.

I believe some sort of signpost system should be devised for the city centre. Nobody knows where Norfolk House is, as an example, and it is a very busy building now with the FCO being there.

Also the east end has new agencies and a medical company of some sort but it is completely unmarked and obscure.

I'm glad MK NEWS is investigating the problem.

Bowback House should also be signposted somehow, as should the police station and the courts (some unsavoury looking people ask me where they are all the time!).

Off the grid

SIR – I fear that the contributions from John Hawthorn and Ian Stewart- 'electric cars justify grid roads' (October 1) - miss the point.

A car remains a car irrespective of whether it is powered by hydrogen/electric/steam or petrol or diesel.

Reducing vehicle-generated noxious emissions would be good but, even assuming that that could happen soon enough to avoid climate change, there remain disadvantages.

As I pointed out in your October 1 article, the current draft LDF Council plan for the city proposes an amazing slightly under a one per cent modal shift to public transport over the next 30 years.

This will result in a 300 per cent increase in car ownership and raises the issue of where will they all get parked, for example at city centre, and grid roads and junctions simply log-jamming.

A car-orientated urban future will not work. Additionally, there are social disbenefits arising from near total car-dependancy.

Focussing on the ecological and neglecting the social dimension betrays a serious misunderstanding of the meaning of sustainability.

The challenge for MK is to get itself a plan for a low carbon future via the LDF process. Such a plan would evolve the city away from its present highly unsustainable form in relation to its car-orientated transport system and related implications for spatial planning to a situation of being significantly less reliant on the car for social as much a ecological reasons.

Instead of the car being a means of urban transport it should be seen as one way of leaving the city with access within the city being the role of public transport.

This has all been set out in the council's 'SITS' transport strategy approved in 1998 but now sadly rejected by the present administration.

The council's draft LDF plan is but a re-register of the 1967 MK Master Plan which was designed for a different age.

The present council seems determined to give us an even larger carbon footprint than we currently have.

The current LDF is not fit for purpose and needs to be rewritten.

Mike O'Sullivan
Former MKC cabinet member for environment and transport

Clarity, not clutter, is what signage is about

SIR – I have just read your piece in MK NEWS about signage in Milton Keynes.

I am appalled by the quote from Professor David Lock suggesting that clear signage makes a town cluttered, ugly and boring.

Whilst no-one would disagree that talking to locals is to be encouraged but I think Mr Lock is hopelessly out of touch in his view of the town, its visitors and businesses.

MK is not a village and its visitors may not have all the time in the world.

Is it going to be a warm and friendly experience to arrive at the train station in pouring rain when the locals are all dashing for cover or rushing to catch their own trains, to find no clue as to how far away the town's attractions are?

Has he considered the impact on those with moderate mobility problems, who may be capable of walking to some destinations but not others, and who need to know whether a cab is essential or where to park?

A subjective view of the distance from a passer-by may be dangerously misleading.

Has he considered the impact on a woman arriving alone in the town on a dark winter evening? The first piece of advice given to women to keep safe is 'look as though you know where you are going'. To be able to glance quickly at clear signs or consult a map before leaving the station is essential for this to happen.

As a single woman, I have travelled extensively across the globe and have had good and bad experiences of locations' help in orientating me as a visitor.

Of course one expects to ask the way on a hillside in Nepal or a tribal village in the far north of Thailand and it is true that it is all part of the experience.

Is Mr Lock putting MK in this category?

I would prefer to think that MK fits the category of a vibrant and well-organized town with obvious civic pride.

In which case, well-designed, clear signage is one of the first experiences a visitor has of the town and is common in many Japanese towns, as well as cities worldwide.

Britain is a world leader in designing attractive and functional signage – the London underground maps and blue motorway signs have provided models for many other countries.

They do not add clutter, they add clarity.

What will create clutter is businesses putting up their own disparate signage because of deliberate inactivity on the part of those who could and should lead the way to excellent signage for MK.

This is a great opportunity. Those responsible should visit, as a minimum, Manchester and Birmingham as a part of a project to design MK's maps and signs.

Graphic design college students could also be involved and could bring a fresh perspective which, clearly, is needed.

Routes of all evil

SIR - Travelling in and around Milton Keynes would be a doddle if those responsible for road and pedestrian signage actually carried out their roles responsibly.

I have had one officer ask in the last few days where a street is in Stony so there is little hope of success for those of us destined for a lost destination.

I have ffered to buy a map for MKC to help them.

If lost, however, one can always follow signs to the Information Centre. There is, though, no information centre in Milton Keynes so that's a waste of time.

Apparently, MK Dons still play at the Hockey Stadium.

These two locations are to be found on brand new signs put up over the last month at considerable cost and no doubt to the frustration of drivers.

For years I have waged a campaign to improve road signs including to the hospital. Little is done to make things better. The best signage is to the shopping centre despite management complaints.

It is beyond me how anyone in a car cannot read the word 'shopping' or the words 'CentreMK'.

Many signs read to MK east, west, north and south. What use are these if you don't know where your destination is?

I have still to find the place called 'all other routes.'

Every A5 roundabout in MK is a mess. Poor road markings at Redmoor by StadiumMK and the new layout at Abbey Hill which includes non sensical 24hr traffic lights on all but the most important of its junctions (east from Calverton to the roundabout) are particularly dire.

Pedestrians wanting to get from the station area do need better signs and better still, a transit system that will propel them to the Hub, business district, CMK and on to the Theatre District.

None of the signage problems in MK are difficult to solve and no consultation is necessary. We just need action and decision makers to make decisions.

Come on MK – get your act together.

Smoking banter

SIR – I want to complain about the pub next to the shops in Netherfield on Farthing Grove.

Due to the no smoking order the pub customers stand outside smoking right from when the pub opens.

These people have become a pest to the shoppers on Farthing Grove.

The post box outside the pub has become a no good area with silly talk from these customers.

There is a garden with seats behind the pub.

Bags of thanks

SIR – May I express my thanks to the lady who handed in my sister's lost handbag in CMK on October 2?

My sister unfortunately lost it during a shopping trip and, having retraced her steps ,could not find it.

It was with a heavy heart that we tried the lost property desk in the centre and were amazed to find it had been handed in with nothing taken.

It seemed she had left it in the baby change in Midsummer place.

We are both extremely grateful for the kindness and honesty of this lady.

New stock boosts lonley goat herd

Five animals to replace the three that 'went missing' from the island on Willen Lake

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A NEW herd of goats has been boated out to the island in the middle of Willen Lake, a year after three were apparently stolen.

Five new goats will join the three remaining goats still living on the island, owned by the Parks Trust.

MK NEWS reported last September that a routine check of the island by the goats' owner Aggie Forster revealed that the smallest three goats were missing.

Following a thorough search of the island no evidence of the missing goats or of an accident was found and the goats, named Willow, Scrabble and Claude, were believed to have been stolen.

Their disappearance was reported to police at the time.

The new herd was taken by boat to the island on Thursday, September 25 to join the remaining trio, Peanut, Cluedo and Jigsaw.

They control the brambles and weeds to maintain the island as a haven for wildlife, especially birds.

Two of the new goats are Pygmy goats characterised by their short legs and rotund bodies.

The other three are Anglio Nubians which have long 'Roman' noses and drooping ears.

Martin Kincaid, volunteer co-ordinator, said: "The goats seem to have adapted very well to the island and to the other goats.

Volunteer Dave Allen with one of the replacement goats

"We'll be making regular checks on them to ensure that they settle in well over the winter months.

"We'd like to ask people that regularly use Willen Lake to be vigilant and to report any unusual activity on the lake to help us ensure that none of our goats go missing again."

The Parks Trust will be making more regular visits to the lake to ensure the goats are safe and have got enthusiastic volunteers who will be training their binoculars onto the island and counting the goats for them.

As yet the new goats are unnamed and The Parks Trust is calling for people to submit their suggestions via their website, www.theparkstrust.com.

All names will be reviewed and the winning entry or entries notified by The Parks Trust.

Village PO shuts up shop in advance of rescue meeting

A VILLAGE post office is set to close before the council decides whether it can intervene to save it.

The Little Brickhill branch and general store is due to shut its doors at 1pm tomorrow (Thursday, October 16).

Local residents were shocked to hear it would close a day after the parish council was to hold talks to find a way to keep the branch open.

As reported in MK NEWS at the end of September, the cabinet has given postmasters, parish councils and communities more time to investigate other forms of funding or income to help their local branches become sustainable.

It will discuss again whether it can intervene to continue post office services at four of the branches at the end of October.

Barry Landsberg, a member of the Little Brickhill Residents Association said the post office seemed to be rushing the closure through.

He said the village's general store is also to close as the shop is not sustainable without the income from the post office.

A spokesman for Post Office Ltd confirmed the branch would be closed but said the Post Office equipment would be left on the site until the council decided on the possibility of local funding.

"We were unable to, and therefore did not promise to, temporarily keep the office open," he said.

"This is because discussions with local authorities on local funding of Post Offices are entirely separate to Network Change.

Cllr Vanessa McPake, cabinet member at Milton Keynes Council, said: "MK Council is currently working with Little Brickhill Parish Council and the residents association to make every effort to try and come to some alternative arrangement.

The council's intervention is the last chance for Little Brickhill and Weston Underwood post offices, which are among four that are set to be axed after a Post Office announcement last month.

The future remains uncertain for offices in Conniburrow and Fishermead due to worries that their closure would overload Crown Walk in Central Milton Keynes.

The issue is being reviewed by Consumer Focus (formerly Postwatch) the consumer body representing Post Office customers.

Wind farm appeal blown out of court

THREE senior appeal judges have thrown out efforts to stop a wind farm being built near Olney.

Last week the Court of Appeal upheld the High Court's dismissal of a campaign group's bid to block the plans for a seven turbine wind farm at Petsoe Manor Farm, Emberton.

As reported in MK NEWS previously, the plans won the backing of the High Court on Thursday, July 17 despite claims by a local landowner that the area does not have enough wind to justify the harm it would do to the landscape.

Milton Keynes Council granted planning permission for the wind farm, with turbines up to 125 metres high, in January.

But Andrew Finn-Kelcey, a member of BLEW who owns land north of the site, had sought to persuade The High Court to quash the planning permission and order the council to reconsider the matter.

On Friday, October 10 Lords Justices Keene, Thomas and Hughes in the Court of Appeal upheld the High Court decision and refused Mr Finn-Kelcey permission to appeal to the House of Lords.

However, it is still open to BLEW to re-apply direct to the law lords for permission.

Steve Hunter, Your Energy's senior development manager, said: "Once again, a highly-respected judge has upheld the planning permission granted for the wind farm back in January.

"Lord Justice Keene is very clear on the matter - the objectors do not have any remotely sensible case to delay this vital project any further."

Peter Geary, member of BLEW and councillor for Olney said BLEW are looking to appeal to the House of Lords.

Slotters racing in shopping centre

IT'S not very often you get a chance to see cars racing at 60 mph inside the shopping centre!

Middleton Hall at thecentre:mk is hosting the ISRA Slot Car World Championships throughout this week featuring the best racers from around the world in a unique, fast paced, adrenalin fuelled event which comes to Milton Keynes for the first time.

Slot Car racing is a distant relative to home slot car set's, such as Scalextric, beloved by families across the nation.

These racing machines have very high revving motors producing staggering performance with speeds of up to 60 mph.

Over the week people will not only have the opportunity to watch these mini racing machines whizz round a 50 metre track, they will also be able to try the sport. Alongside the world championship track will be a public track for novices to try slot car racing for the first time.

SPOTLIGHT ON THE CITY FISHERMEAD

I have seen families who have been on social security for 12 years – Tom Fraser

This week MK NEWS continues to shine a spotlight on the estates recently featured in the council's latest 'social atlas'. Reporter JESSICA CUNNIFFE went to Fishermead to find out how residents are trying to get the estate off this atlas but put it on the map for its assets

Mary Garrett chats to new resident Ayodele Adekanmi

WITH hundreds of homes split into bedsits, a transient population, late-night merry-makers flocking through the streets and problems with rubbish, it has all the hallmarks of a university town.

But instead of being known for it's educational achievements, it actually has a high number of children without good GCSEs and even higher number of people who do not go into higher education, Fishermead was in fact recently crowned the third worst estate in Milton Keynes.

This is because in its assets lie its problems.

Its proximity to the city centre is desirable, but also means that many of the thousand people leaving bars and clubs flood through the estate each night.

There is a quick turnover of population, with new blood constantly coming to the estate. But it is so transient, sometimes people stay for only six months, that there is a lack of local pride.

But it is the plentiful housing which proves the biggest issue - allowing for a multitude of houses in multiple occupancy (HMOs) to be created.

Chairman of the Neighbourhood Action Group, Tom Fraser, said: "A survey of residents in Fishermead revealed their top three problems: houses in multiple occupancy, rubbish and anti-social behaviour.

"It is the HMOs that are responsible for anti-social behaviour and rubbish. We have had terrible difficulties sorting this out. It seems to be an insurmountable problem."

Fellow NAG activist, Mary Garrett, has made it her mission to knock on every door to find out about and try to improve the living conditions.

"I know of a house that has four families, each with two children, crammed in four bedrooms. It's not only the town houses - even the three bedroom houses are HMOs, like one I saw with a family with three children and four men. Another was filled with a family with two children, plus two men."

It is people like student and Ramada Hotel worker Ayodele Adekanmi, 25, she intends to help.

He moved to an HMO in Fishermead three weeks ago to live with five other men – and rats.

"I think it's good here as you can get to many places in the city, but it's not the best place to live and there are rats in the house," he said.

This is why Mary carries a camera everywhere she goes, in order to prove what bad conditions some people live in.

The estate's place as third worst out of 108 in Milton Keynes is self-perpetuating.

Mr Fraser said: "People are not in employment and children brought up in families where parents have never worked, what options do they have?

"I have seen families who have been on social security for 12 years."

But parish councillor and NAG member Michelle Dudhill, 39, believes her children's estate should not determine their future.

"I want my children to have aspirations – to work hard and play hard. Just because you live on an estate doesn't mean you can't achieve things.

"The positive things about living here is it's a growing city, and we get a lot of funds including for a new play park.

"Even though we have a transient population the majority of them are law abiding citizens.

"But sometimes I get pretty sick of living here."

Tom sums this up: "Fishermead has got a very bad name. But it's not a problem estate, it's an estate with problems."

At every turn they are trying to address these problems for example holding English classes at the local Trinity Centre.

Mr Fraser added: "The other major problem we have is if you have a class of 30 children, six or seven have no English and there are others where English is a second language, it's an impossibility for the teacher. The task we are giving teachers ,they can't do it.

"We have 83 languages spoken in Milton Keynes, three of which have no written version. It's a mammoth problem but we've got to get to the stage where people can speak English."

These people do not only want to help their own estate, however. Fishermead is actually something of a refuge for the homeless people.

Tom said: "We run a Love in Action group here. On Thursdays homeless people who are living rough in the city centre, in nearby canal bridges, under passes and the railway station come here. We feed them and I sit with them, and after a short time they get to think you are no longer a threat."

It seems ironic that the streets are named after Cornish fishing villages – Padstow Avenue, Pencarrow Place, Mullion Place – since this is no quaint or picturesque tourist destination.

After all, with the Internet throwing up groups like 'I lived in Fishermead Milton Keynes and survived' on Facebook, and Google revealing rumours of a 'Fishermead Terror Squad', it doesn't seem to be somewhere anyone would want to visit in a hurry.

And yet, according to Mr Fraser, outreach projects held over the summer for children from north London travelled to Fishermead.

"The children love this estate and want to transport it back to London."

Appliance of science at two-week festival

THIS week sees the start of the Science Festival and a wealth of events.

Running from October 17 to 31, the festival's most unusual audience participation event will be the Fossil Detectives show at The Open University.

Fossil Detectives is an eight-part BBC television series showcasing Britain's wealth of fossil remains.

On October 21 at 7.30pm, the show's presenter, Dr Hermione Cockburn, will show people how the series was made and share fossil-hunting and identification tips with the audience.

Also at the Open University on October 18 is the talk on 'Positive Futures - Population and Energy', during which leading scientists will discuss alternative energy sources, past climate change and climate prediction.

On October 25, 'Looking for New Worlds' will be a day of investigation about the speculation on the existence of extra-solar planets.

Then on October 30, Open University Professor of Space Science John Zarneck will discuss the project he worked on for 15 years - when the Huygens probe landed on the surface of Titan, Saturn's largest moon. This takes place at 7.45 at the University of Bedfordshire, Putteridge Bury.

28 council building firm jobs are axed

Redundancies set to cost £530k

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

TWENTY-EIGHT staff are to lose their jobs as the council's building design arm Architecture MK is closed.

Some positions have been saved as the council will retain small building works and maintenance services.

Milton Keynes Council's cabinet decided to close Architecture MK (AMK) as a business unit, specifically relating to the Architect function for major capital projects, last night (Tuesday, October 8).

This is estimated to result in 28 redundancies across the whole of AMK, which will cost the council around £530K and be phased in over a period of three to six months.

Over the last month AMK staff, who were warned that their jobs were at risk after the business failed to win new contracts, have been asked for their views to see if anything could be done to save the company.

A proposal that the council retain a small building works and maintenance function was taken up, resulting in an estimated 12 jobs being saved as staff are redeployed to new posts.

Council leader Isobel McCall said: "Every effort will be made to support those members of staff going through what we know is a difficult time.

"They will be given counselling, financial and pensions advice and help to write CVs and obtain jobs elsewhere.

"We have not taken this decision lightly," she added.

"The council would have been losing the best part of a million pounds of tax payers money."

The trouble began earlier in the year when Architecture MK was unsuccessful in bidding for competitive tenders to build new schools in Milton Keynes and the department was facing a projected loss of more than £500,000 for 2008/2009.

The position was made worse by the threat of recession making the building design market much more competitive.

Architecture MK was set up in 1997 by Milton Keynes Council to provide professional building surveying, project management and property maintenance services to other council departments, schools and properties.

Family wanted for IT TV show

REMEMBER your first Atari console, the Walkman and the mini disc?

We may look back lovingly on the old classics but how would we cope now with living at the dawn of the digital age?

The BBC is searching for a family in Milton Keynes which is prepared to find out.

The family will take part in a programme that will look at the impact that technology has had on family life over the past 40 years.

The three-part series, to be shown on BBC Four, will take a modern British family back to the 1970s and then fast forward them through the domestic technological revolution of the 1980s and the 1990s, right up to the present day.

It is the latest venture of the makers of Edwardian Country House, Who Do You Think You Are and New Tricks.

Producer Laura Jackson said they have decided to focus on Milton Keynes as the new city was born in the 1970s and is known for innovation.

"It is synonymous with both the 1970s and forward thinking IT/technology companies," she said.

In the 1970s the family will experience life without the technology we've begun to take for granted; they'll live a 70s life in a 70s house without Sky plus, Facebook and the Wii.

The producers are searching for a home-owning family with at least three children between the ages of six and 18.

Xscape crowds out Blackpool

Venue is the biggest free attraction in Britain – and MK Theatre isn't doing too badly either

XSCAPE is the most popular visitor attraction in Britain.

Last week the city complex – which boasts a cinema, bowling alley, climbing walls, shops, restaurants, bars and a real snow ski slope – was named the most visited free attraction.

Research conducted by VisitBritain, the national tourism agency, showed that 6.7 million people walked through the doors of Xscape last year.

That means it is more popular than Blackpool Pleasure Beach and the British Museum, which pulled in 5.5 and 5.4 million visitors respectively in 2007.

West Side Story: MK Theatre's most successful show

VisitBritain says Xscape, which was completed eight years ago, is benefiting from the growing popularity of all the leisure sectors.

Despite the credit crunch, in the south east there has been an increase of four per cent of people visiting such attractions.

Chief executive of Xscape, P Y Gerbeau, said: "I'm thrilled that Xscape has been recognised as the UK's fastest-growing and most popular leisure brand.

"I am pleased that our destinations continue to perform consistently in 2008 in what is a challenging trading climate."

Down the road, the city's theatre is enjoying increasing popularity after breaking box office records.

In September, West Side Story became the most successful two-week show ever staged at Milton Keynes Theatre with almost 20,000 people through the doors during its sold-out run.

Chief executive Elizabeth Adlington said: "Across the season around 50 per cent of our audience are resident within Milton Keynes whilst the remainder travel in for performances from outside the immediate area.

"As such we are providing local people with excellent performances on their doorsteps and playing a pivotal role in supporting local businesses with additional visitor spend.

"It's great to be able to demonstrate so clearly the importance of the theatre in the wider Milton Keynes economy, particularly given the current economic circumstances."

Award for Parkinson's nurse campaigner

A PARKINSON'S disease sufferer has been recognised as a member of the Institute of Diagnostic Engineering after 'fixing' a Parkinson's nurse for Milton Keynes.

Bill McCloskey, 76, successfully ran a year-long campaign for a dedicated expert who would improve his standard of life and that of thousands of parkinson's sufferers across the city.

Yesterday, at Lovat Fields Retirement Village in Willen, the former engineer was presented with a certificate by Institute chairman Bill Parker, recognising his hard work.

Bill launched his campaign through MK NEWS in April 2006 and raised a petition containing 1,800 signatures in support of a nurse, which was presented to the PCT last September.

Canals offer a special kind of freedom

BRITAIN'S waterways are a mystery to most and perhaps that is where the appeal of a canal boat holiday lies.

I had never considered a holiday on the canal but when a friend handed me a brochure the attraction grew as I learned more.

My experience was limited to a school trip aged seven but while children are captivated by the magic of a 'home on the water', as they are by caravans and tents, it might seem rather too quaint, even unnecessary, to the modern holidaymaker.

My mission was to experience everything the canal had to offer, to find out if this was a hidden gem of a holiday, right on our doorstep.

I imagined a week of pub gardens, peaceful tranquillity and a few locks for some novel exercise.

The Grand Union Canal runs through the heart of Milton Keynes but it is lost on many who cross it without hesitation every day, either by car, or foot, or bicycle.

But that is where the charm lies for those who have made Milton Keynes' canal their home, and those who fish, jog and cycle along the canal path.

The brochure was from Wyvern Shipping Co and offered the complete canal experience for amateurs like myself.

The company boasts an impressive fleet of narrow boats and when we arrived at their base in Leighton Buzzard some guests were already hauling their luggage on board.

My girlfriend and I opted for a mid-week trip, Monday to Friday, aboard a four-berth boat.

It had more than enough space for two and the furniture was neatly compact, while others have space for eight people (the brochure notes that some have a 7ft 6ins settee perfect for the taller crew). The company has been run by the Griffin family since 1961 and James Griffin has established a skilled labour force.

Home for a week: Wyvern Shipping Co's four-berth narrow boat Daffodil, above. Right: Ancient mariner Rob Gibson at the helm

As first-timers, a pilot called Pete took us through every detail we would need to know for the basic maintenance and operating of the boat.

Two hours later my mind was crammed with things to remember but Pete's laid back demonstration reassured me that as long as I kept the propeller at the back and my speed at a steady 4mph I couldn't go wrong.

By 4pm we were alone on the canal and chugging towards our second lock of the day at Three Locks.

Wait a minute I thought, three locks? Luckily we managed to get through with the help of some local experts who seem to pop up helpfully when you are making a mess of things.

Within the first hour of our trip we passed horses running through the fields and the odd heron fishing for dinner. As darkness fell we moored up at Fenny Stratford.

The next day was full of excitement as, with great concentration, I manoeuvred the boat past marinas and fishermen while my first mate preferred to open the locks.

It is difficult not to feel like a tourist as you pass those who live on the canal. Some have converted their boats into impressive luxurious homes, others seem to prefer a cold hard camouflage exterior which would look at home in a Mad Max film.

However, every person we passed greeted us and was happy to chat.

One boater who everyone seemed to know was a gentlemen who I can only describe as Uncle Albert from Only Fools And Horses fame.

Through his beard, he cheerily told me that he had travelled up along the canals from the Thames, before disappearing ahead with a booming laugh.

You definitely feel a special kind of freedom being able to moor up almost anywhere, to picnic in Campbell Park or visit the Peace Pagoda at Willen.

There was also something very satisfying about mooring next to one of the great pubs which line the route.

We stayed right outside the Black Horse, Great Linford, and the Globe, near Old Linslade, and both provided welcome warmth and refreshment after a day of fresh air.

There was no stereotype to our fellow holidaymakers either - we passed groups of friends, couples, families with young children, and all seem to be enjoying every minute.

At Wolverton, we chugged past Bill Billings' famous train mural.

After a day of September showers the sun shone on beautiful Cosgrove as we passed cows and villagers walking their dogs.

It took us two days to reach Stoke Bruerne, where the braver boaters take on a lung-busting seven locks before a mile-long tunnel.

We opted to moor up before the locks and walk to the top for a steak sandwich and a pint at The Navigation before turning around and returning through Milton Keynes.

The brochure sums it up nicely: "customers have found the fastest way to slow down is to have a relaxing holiday on a Wyvern boat."

A short break on the canal has the potential to please anyone and while it is relaxing, it's also a very sociable and challenging adventure.

It is advisable to book early to avoid disappointment and prices range from around £350 to £1500.

A large trial funded by the Medical Research Council in 1990 concluded that CHIROPRACTIC TREATMENT was 30% more effective than hospital outpatient management, mainly for patients with chronic or severe back pain. A follow up trial in 1995 confirmed patients with low back pain treated by Chiropractors derived more benefit and long term satisfaction than those treated by hospitals.

Pupils called to account

Money sense: June Wilkinson of NatWest with Monkston Primary pupils

MONKSTON Primary School has branched out with the help of a local bank to provide more than just lessons for its pupils and it is banking on it being a major success.

With the support of June Wilkinson of NatWest, together with Tracey Sapia an extended schools co-ordinator at the school, the pupils have set up their own School Bank to help them understand more about banking and the basics of managing money.

Supported with ongoing guidance from NatWest , the School Bank will be run by the pupils and teachers.

All pupils will have the opportunity to open an account and pay in money at the school bank during published opening hours; they will also receive regular account statements, which NatWest staff will go through with them.

This will help them to understand the process of running a bank account and see their savings grow.

Mrs Sapia, an Extended School Co-ordinator at Monkston Primary School said: "The students are really excited about their bank. It's very important that they gain basic money management even at this young age and setting up, running and using their own bank is an extremely practical and fun way of doing this. We would like to thank NatWest for helping make this happen.

■ Any schools or colleges wanting to find out more about the MoneySense for Schools' programme, how to get the free materials or how to get the support of a NatWest member of staff, should contact NatWest's Regional MoneySense for Schools' Manager, Maxine Norris, on 07786 114468 or visit the www.natwest.com/moneysense web site.

'Inspirational' Spanish teacher reaches awards finals

A TEACHER reached the finals of a national award for his 'inspirational' Spanish lessons.

Paul Phillips, who works at St Thomas Aquinas Catholic Primary School in Bletchley, was a finalist for the Scholastic and La Jolie Ronde Primary Language Teacher of the Year Award 2008.

The award, launched this year, celebrates the very best in language teaching taking place in UK primary schools.

Mr Phillips was nominated by the school's head teacher, Monica Basham, after he gave up his half-term break to learn Spanish at the University of Murcia when it had been decided to introduce the language into the curriculum.

His nomination stated: "Paul's inspirational teaching and love of modern foreign languages has made a tremendous impact on the children's enthusiasm to learn Spanish."

Mr Phillips runs Spanish open days involving parents and has established a video conferencing link with a school in Murcia so that the pupils of both schools can interact.

He was chosen as a finalist by a panel of experts and attended the national awards ceremony at the Houses of Parliament on Thursday, October 9.

As a finalist he was presented with £500 of La Jolie Ronde resources and £200 of scholastic books.

He also received a class set of La Petite Presse, scholastic modern foreign languages book and a scholastic magazine subscription.

MKEDUCATIONNEWSBRIEFS

All the world's a stage

STUDENTS from Stantonbury Campus took to the stage at a professional theatre as part of the 2008 Shakespeare Schools Festival.

It is a unique arts education initiative which enables young people to perform abridged productions of Shakespeare's most famous plays.

Stantonbury chose to try their hand at Much Ado About Nothing.

To ensure the audience would be spell-bound director, Stantonbury Campus teacher Mark Row, invited local magician Darren James to work with students and add a touch of magic to the Shakespearean classic.

The cast took the somewhat unusual decision to set their production in the circus; so in addition to working with Darren on a range of magical illusions, they also had to learn to juggle and spin plates for the show.

Students from the campus performed at the Abbey Theatre in St Albans on Friday.

University open day

THE School of Humanities at the University of Buckingham is holding an Open Day today between 1.30 and 4pm.

Serious Games finalist

THE Open University has beaten strong competition to win a place as a finalist in the Serious Games Solution of the Year category at the prestigious World of Learning Awards 2008.

In association with the British Institute of Learning & Development (BILD) and the Daily Mail, these highly competitive Awards recognise the highest standards of achievement within the learning and development industry and are acknowledged as the premier event for honouring learning-specific solutions.

Now in their eighth year, the awards reward organisations and individuals whose outstanding achievements have notably improved workplace productivity and performance, the most innovative new learning initiatives and exceptional venues of 2008.

The awards are one of the highlights of the World of Learning 2008, the UK's key conference and exhibition for business learning, which takes place at the NEC, Birmingham on November 19-20.

Why it's cool to be a knitter!

by Katrina from HobbyCraft

I love hand knitting. It's tactile, it's fun, it's satisfying, what's more it keeps my hands busy when they could be more dubiously employed eating biscuits!

And what better time to declare my affection for one of our oldest crafts than now in National Knitting Week (October 12-19). Of course, it helps that I'm in illustrious company.

The roll call of major celebrities who have come out (or been outed) as keen knitters includes Julia Roberts, Hilary Swank, Cameron Diaz, Winona Ryder, Madonna, Daryl Hannah, Kate Moss - and, braving this female-dominated arena, Gladiator star Russell Crowe.

Not surprising then that knitting by hand is now reckoned to be one of the coolest, greenest and most popular creative crafts of the decade.

It's why you'll find trendy coffee shops offering knitting classes and why, across the country, women young and not-so-young get together to "stitch 'n' bitch" - as a best-selling book by Debbie Stoller is aptly titled - and exchange tips on techniques and discuss trends.

With books and magazines featuring how to start knitting and patterns to suit all abilities, it's never been so easy to add a little exclusive designer knitwear to your wardrobe – giving you at least one good reason to be pleased when it gets colder!

If you're serious about knitting, you'll discover absolutely everything you need for your projects all in one place at HobbyCraft. Fantastic yarns, knit kits, patterns and books, plus all the needles, hooks and haberdashery essentials you can imagine!

There are more than 450 yarns alone, from Aran to Jaeger and Peru to YoYo, and more than 100 different types and sizes of knitting needles and crochet hooks, from straight to circular, from 2mm to 20mm*.

You'll find all your favourite brands* too, including Palette, Patons, Pony, Rowan, RY, Wendy, Sirdar and Sublime. What's more, HobbyCraft is huge on haberdashery and embellishments – so often hard to find a good selection these days – from buttons and beads to fastenings, ribbons, sequins, Velcro, YKK zips and so much more.

And, as I'm sure any keen knitter will tell you, the exclusive end product created by hand and not machine will be in a class of its own. I only wish my granny had spent less time knitting woolly hats and more time teaching me the rudiments of cable stitch!

Energy-save 'docs' see the (free) light

ENERGY-SAVING 'doctors' have been dishing out advice to home owners in Milton Keynes.

And they will return to the city to provide a free energy saving advice surgery next week.

It is all to celebrate the launch this month of the new Energy Saving Trust for Thames Valley and Solent.

Twelve towns from the Isle of Wight to Milton Keynes host the surgeries where expert advisers offer their ideas on saving energy in the home and thereby saving money and helping the environment.

This tour comes hot on the heels of Gordon Brown's announcement in September of additional grants and offers to help people take up essential energy saving measures such as insulation.

Energy Saving Trust's regional manager, Richard Hurford, said: "The free energy saving advice surgeries are just the beginning.

The Energy Saving Trust aims to act as the catalyst for change. By pro actively offering impartial, expert and free advice and information on grants and offers, we want to encourage all organisation s and individuals to choose a more low carbon lifestyle."

At the forthcoming surgery on Thursday, October 23 at Tesco, Kingston, members of the public will have the opportunity to quiz energy experts and to pick-up tips for greener, smarter, low carbon living. A light bulb amnesty is also on offer.

The surgery will run from 10am until 3pm.

The public simply need to take two old fashioned tungsten filament light bulbs to the surgery and the advisor will swap them for two energy saving light bulbs. The new bulbs use 80 per cent less energy.

Energy Saving Trust's ambition is to lead 60 million UK citizens to act on climate change. A national network of twenty-on Energy Saving advice centres will support the UK target for a 26 per cent reduction in carbon dioxide by 2020.

Watch the ball: Dan Magness shows off his skills to Merebrook Infant School pupils

Ginger Freestyler and the 'keepy-uppy' kids

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

A LOCAL freestyling footballer has dealt with the likes of Steven Gerrard, Lionel Messi and Thierry Henry but it was groups of school children that provided the greatest challenge.

Dan Magness went to Merebrook Infant School, Furzton, to get the kids into football and increase their interest in exercise.

Having recently moved to Milton Keynes Dan, dubbed the 'Ginger Freestyler', thought he would lend a hand to the school where his wife is a teaching assistant.

First he wowed the children in a school assembly then the took classes of 20 for group tuition.

"The main aim is just to get kids active," Dan said, "there is so much competitive football these days, even from a young age, so it's nice just to give them a chance to do what they want with the ball. That's why freestyling is a good thing, you just get a ball and do things on your own.

'The main aim is just to get kids active... it's nice just to give them a chance to do what they want with the ball. That's why freestyling is a good thing, you just get a ball and do things on your own': Dan Magness

"There are a few kids who have done really well, obviously they're very young, but it they practice they could be pretty good."

When he's not dealing with kids from four to seven-years-old Dan is entertaining football crowds with half-time displays.

However, it is working with international stars that has made him one of the most recognised freestylers on the circuit.

Dan said: "I get brought in because the skills I have a unique so people will get me in for adverts so I can teach tricks.

"I've done some stuff with Steven Gerrard, Freddie Ljungberg, Roberto Carlos, loads of different people."

Most recently he featured as a builder in a drinks brand advert where he was able to rub shoulders with Barcelona stars Thierry Henry and Lionel Messi.

"Out of all the footballers I've met Messi was definitely one of the better ones. There were a few times when I thought I could have done that – but I'm sure I wouldn't be able to play football as well as him."

At 17 Dan broke the World Record for keeping a ball off the floor for a staggering 13 and-a-half hours. That came a year after he was released as a player by Wimbledon.

Naturally, he maintains his interest in MK Dons and keeps a look out for how one player in particular is performing.

"There's a lad there that I used to train with Dean Lewington.

"He's doing really well this season, he was always very dedicated and always a good footballer.

"Put him in a game situation and he was always fantastic, I would probably have more tricks than him but he could do everything else better than me so that's why he's gone on to captain MK Dons."

You could argue Dan's career isn't too bad either.

Bears necessities: Paul Shepherd presents football-loving Gordon Brown with two MK Dons teddy bears

PM's wife given stress busting squeezy sheep

EIGHT business bosses from Milton Keynes have had the chance to meet with Prime Minister Gordon Brown.

It was part of a national celebration of the contribution that older people make to business and their local community.

The Prime Minister spoke of his pride in hosting this reception for his 150 guests and hailed their contribution to society as massively important to the success of the nation.

With wife Sarah by his side, Mr Brown appeared to be relaxed and enjoying the atmosphere as they signed autographs and received gifts.

Paul Shepherd, of Shepherd Interiors, said: "As he is a huge football fan, deciding on a present from Milton Keynes was easy – two MK Dons teddy bears for their children.

"We also gave Mrs Brown one of our squeezy sheep to help her husband overcome the stress of the global banking system crisis, and she carried it around all evening."

Other guests included: Susan de Fraine of Baker Tilley, Janet Spooner of Travel Treats, Helen Horwood from the chamber of commerce, Carolyn English from MK Business Citizen, Alan Grimes of Fast Signs, Sonia Coleman of D&P Recruitment and Linda Mansfield from Events in Business.

Union branch in talks over mail sorting jobs

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A CITY union branch is calling for jobs to be saved as the threat of closure looms over Milton Keynes' mail centre.

The local branch of the Communication Workers Union (CWU) believes the facility is likely to close but wants some small-scale operations to be kept at the site.

The union says up to 600 jobs are at risk in the city.

As reported in MK NEWS in April, Royal Mail has put forward plans for Milton Keynes' mail to be sorted in a new 'super' mail centre alongside post from Coventry and Northampton.

The move could mean the Milton Keynes Mail Centre, in Dawson Road, Bletchley - where post from across the area is sorted by machines - be closed.

Its processing operations would be transferred to a proposed new state-of-the-art mail centre between junctions 15 and 16 of the M1 in Northamptonshire in 2010.

The proposals are some of those being pitched to Royal Mail staff and unions currently as part of a review of its mail processing operations.

Royal Mail says no jobs may need to be lost as, with 'flexibility', everyone who works for them now will be able to carry on working for Royal Mail in the future.

But Malcolm Barnard, chairman of CWU's Milton Keynes branch, says not all staff will be able to move to the new mail centre in Northampton.

"It is in a different county so you can only get a coach. It would be more than a two hour journey," he said.

The union wants some operations to be kept on the site, including the sorting of large volumes of marketing mail sent out by companies and a central collection hub where post from across the city is loaded onto lorries to be taken to Northampton.

It is also calling for the mail centre to run a pressure-time operation over Christmas to relieve the new mail centre and for website Amazon, one of the post office's biggest contracts which has a depot in Milton Keynes, to have its mail sorted in the city at peak times.

"It is about saving as many jobs as possible," said Mr Barnard.

A Royal Mail spokesman said: "As announced in 2007, over the next few years the company is making huge investments in the network, including new technology and equipment for mail centres.

"Milton Keynes Mail Centre site, as it stands, may not be suitable for the new technology and equipment needed because of its limited size.

"We continue to consult with our people and unions and expect to make a decision towards the end of this year.

"We certainly do not anticipate job losses of any such level suggested by the union."

Union representatives met with Royal Mail bosses last Wednesday to put forward their ideas and discussions are still ongoing.

Fields fine for fireworks

FIREWORK lovers will still be able to enjoy the displays from fields around Campbell Park next month – despite new signs which warn people off them.

Milton Keynes Partnership has put up signs deterring people from using the fields opposite Campbell Park off Silbury Boulevard.

A spokesman for the agency said: "Signage has been erected to advise that the development land at Campbell Park is privately owned.

"Whilst access to its landholdings will not be restricted for this event, English Partnerships does recommend that members of the public view the fireworks from safer vantage points such as Silbury and Avebury Boulevards."

Don't get the hump

RESIDENTS will have a chance to have their say on the best way to prevent accidents on a Newport Pagnell road.

On Friday between 2pm and 7pm and Saturday from 9am-1pm, people can go to Portfields School to look at the council's proposals for traffic calming in Westbury Lane.

Options range from traffic humps and central reservations - or no change at all.

Ward councillor Euan Henderson said: "There have been quite a number of hump accidents, a couple involving injuries on that road. I just hope as many people as possible will come and have a look at what's being proposed and tell the council which of the options they prefer."

Prescriptions proposals

PATIENTS will no longer be able to collect their prescriptions from rural surgeries, according to Government proposals.

Mark Lancaster MP is concerned patients, such as those in Hanslope, will have to travel to pharmacies to collect prescriptions.

Whilst on a visit to Hanslope Surgery, Mr Lancaster said: "While I welcome some of the proposals in the Pharmacy White Paper, I am extremely concerned that residents in Hanslope will have to travel to Stony Stratford or Newport Pagnell to collect their prescriptions."

Mr Lancaster has pledged to raise the matter in Parliament.

'Flat-packed for convenience'.

Whose?

Aren't you fed-up with this modern world of the instruction-manual of many languages except plain English?

Then here's an offer from A.Five Furniture that could not be clearer (nor more refreshing). Order wardrobes with sliding mirror-doors from us and we assemble them for you.

As well as clarity here's candour: A.Five Furniture's warehouse-showroom is deceptively plain on the outside. Yet inside it is filled with a surprisingly large number of full displays of dining furniture, living-room furniture and, of course, bedroom furniture. Many of them are sale-priced items.

So no assembling, and no paying for it, either – at least not until October 2009.

COMPETITION

Win family tickets to Mead Open Farm

WALK through a spine-tingling haunted castle at Mead Open Farm this Halloween.

There's heaps of spooky Halloween excitement at the farm starting on Friday, October 18 and MK NEWS has five family tickets to give away.

The centrepiece is the farm's Haunted Castle, with seven thrilling stage sets and the extra brave can enter the special Fright Zone.

Plus youngsters can board the phantom trailer ride, carve pumpkins, brave the Field of Terror and win a yummy treat in the Witches Competition Trail.

And from October 27 to November 2, a Halloween Fancy Dress competition will be held daily at 5pm with great prizes to be won.

Award winning Mead Open Farm, in Billington just south of Leighton Buzzard, offers hands-on animal fun including pony grooming, rabbit cuddling and cow milking.

Inside Shaggy's PlayWorld there are plenty of huge slides to brave, zig zag net climbers to scramble and fireman's poles to descend.

Entry costs £5.95 for children and £6.95 for adults. Under twos are free.

All activities are free except for the pumpkin carving workshop, which has a small additional cost to cover the cost of the pumpkin.

■ For further information call 01525 852954 or visit www.meadopenfarm.co.uk

HOW TO ENTER

To win one of five family tickets (for two adults and two children) to Mead Open Farm, all you need to do is answer the following question: When does the Halloween excitement begin at Mead Open Farm?

Answers on a postcard to Mead Open Farm competition, MK NEWS, 1 Diamond Court, Fox Milne, MK15 ODU or by e-mail to competitions@mk-news.co.uk

Please include your name, address and daytime telephone numbers.

First correct entries drawn win. The editors decision is final and the closing date is October 22.

Bells appeal rings up waste tax cash

A GRANT of £20,000 is to help restore eight ancient church bells to their former glory.

The money was presented to the Olney Bells Appeal on Friday by the Lord Lieutenant of Buckinghamshire, president of the Buckinghamshire Historic Churches Trust.

It will be used to restore the bells of the Church of St Peter and St Paul in Olney, which were in use when anti-slavery campaigner, and author of the hymn Amazing Grace, John Newton was curate at the church in the late 1700s.

The funding for the grant has come from Waste Recycling Environmental Limited (WREN), which distributes money from the landfill tax credits raised at the two Waste Recycling Group Landfill sites at Calvert and Bletchley.

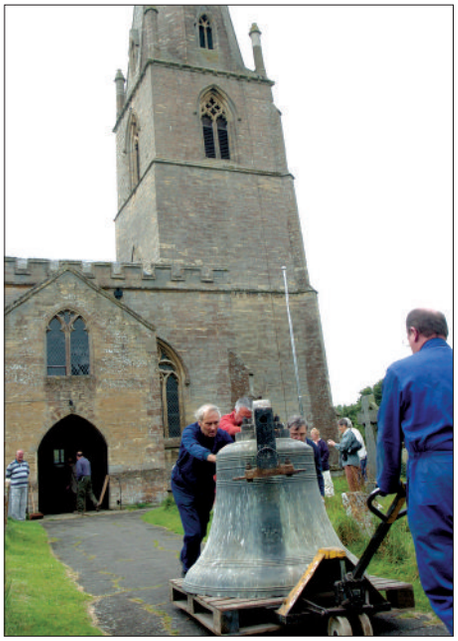
The bells were lowered from the tower in August and will be restored by Whites of Appleton bell hangers in Oxfordshire and transported to London to be retuned at a foundry.

The bells will be returned to Olney at the end of this year and rehung alongside two new treble bells.

The scheme was also awarded a grant of £35,500 from the Heritage Lottery Fund in May.

It will involve the replacement of a deteriorating wooden bell frame in the Grade One listed church.

There will be community activities to bring the history of the bells and the church to a wider audience and training opportunities aimed at providing a supply of bell ringers to continue the heritage of English-style bell ringing.



Ding dong effort: Charles Knight, Alan Marchbank and David Phillipson pull the tenor bell out of the Church of St Peter and St Paul in Olney

New historical information will be placed in the church and cameras will be installed in the tower linked to monitors in the church to enable visitors to see the bells while they are being rung.

Win a meal for two at The Navigation Inn

A TOP-CLASS chef who got to the finals of BBC's Masterchef is offering quality pub food in Cosgrove.

Dan Cameron runs the 200-year-old traditional canal side pub and restaurant The Navigation Inn with his dad Duncan.

Known for its stunning views over open countryside it is now restoring its reputation for quality food with Dan leading a team of passionate chefs specialising in fresh, local produce with each dish cooked to order.

The inn has teamed up with MK NEWS to offer three lucky readers the chance to win a three-course meal for two.

Dan has trained at some of London's top restaurants including Gordon Ramsay's Maze and The Berkeley Square in Mayfair.

He was chosen from thousands of entrants to star in the BBC's Masterchef – The Professionals recently and got through to the last six.

He said it was very nerve-racking being on TV for the first time: "They really put you on the spot, you don't get much preparation time, but it was a fantastic experience," he said.

His menu at the inn offers a varied menu of excellent quality traditional pub food. Vegetarians are well catered for and their is an ever changing specials board.

Dan also plans to open a 30-seater fine dining restaurant offering modern European food in March next year.

The inn is situated 10 minutes from CMK, on the Castlethorpe Road just outside Cosgrove at Thrupp Wharf on the Grand Union Canal.

There is also live music on Friday evenings from 8.30pm and the log fire in the bar will soon be burning.

■ For more information, or to see the menu for Christmas parties, visit www.navigationinn.net

HOW TO ENTER

To win one of three meals at the Navigation Inn, just answer the following question: How old is the Navigation Inn at Cosgrove?

Answers on a postcard to Navigation Inn competition, MK NEWS, 1 Diamond Court, Fox Milne, MK15 ODU or by email to competitions@mk-news.co.uk

Please include your name, address and daytime telephone numbers. First correct entries drawn win. The editors decision is final.Closing date October 22.

Business Excellence Awards Winners 2008

THE waiting is finally over and the celebrations have only just stopped – on Thursday, October 9 a glittering ceremony was held at stadiummk to announce the winners of the 2008 Chamber of Commerce Business Excellence Awards.

MK NEWS was this year's main media sponsor.

The evening was hosted by Declan Curry, former Business Presenter for Breakfast on BBC One and BBC News 24 and, given the current economic climate, he gave a fascinating and sometimes very funny insight into the current financial crisis and the world-wide money markets.

Guest speaker for the evening was Sahar Hashemi, co-founder of Coffee Republic.

She talked about how her own entrepreneurial story had unfolded including getting that first 'lightbulb' moment, being rejected by 19 bank managers before finally getting a 'yes' and how, when you love what you do for your work, getting up in the morning should be easy.

The event was well attended with over 680 people representing businesses across the region, and featured distinguished guests such as Neville Reyner CBE, President of the British Chambers of Commerce, Dr Phyllis Starkey MP and Mark Lancaster MP.

The night culminated with the presentation of the awards and Rita Spada, CEO of the Chamber of Commerce, thanking all the sponsors for supporting the evening, especially the main event sponsor Milton Keynes Partnership.

There was also an extra treat for the guests on the night with a performance from Milton Keynes singer Natalie Chua.

Natalie has established herself as one of the leading classical singers in the country and gave a stunning vocal performance.

Advertorial

John Lewis Milton Keynes was recognised as the most innovative retailer at the MK and North Bucks Chamber of Commerce Business Excellence Awards.

The trophy was presented to MD Deborah Strazza at the ceremony held in the MK Dons Stadium on Thursday 9 October.

In naming John Lewis Milton Keynes as winners of the most innovative retailer they commented 'Overall the innovations empowered and motivated their staff helping give pride and place to every member of the team. The innovations saw a clear increase in store standards and customer service levels that inevitably led to the increase in sales and the achievement of the £100 million target'

One team one goal

The year commenced with a strategy to break through the sales target with a motto of 'one team one goal. In essence each part of the business focussed on what they could deliver to help reach this important milestone - be it improving their product knowledge to great window displays or attractive promotions, all areas pulled together to achieve more for customers and make John Lewis the best place to shop. At the end of the year JLMK celebrated with customers, recognising their part in the achievement and thanking them for their support.

Customer Service

Winning top place in the Verdict consumer satisfaction index, January 2008 John Lewis always aims to excel in customer service 'all partners use their own personalities but the key is to deliver constant and consistent excellent service to every customer from the moment they first contact us' Deborah informed partners that 'the news of our award is a great honour and credit to the hard work and determination of this branch to deliver excellent standards. It's a superb result, well done everyone'. Congratulations have been flying in from all areas of the business including the board.

The shop also sponsored the Schools Award which was won by Denbigh School.

INFINITY 2008

Guru Josh Project

GURU Josh must've been some sort of soothsayer.

Back when Infinity first came out eighteen years ago, he proudly announced, "1990's time for the Guru," and he was spot on because by 1991 he'd completely disappeared. I suppose a revival of his biggest (and very nearly only) hit was always on the cards because let's face it, if the Utah Saints can get dragged kicking and screaming into the twenty-first century, quite frankly all bets are off as to who else could come back.

Personally, I think Tetris by Doctor Spin should be the benchmark – if someone ever goes to the trouble of updating that song "for a new generation TM", that will be the day the music industry finally loses any semblance of sanity and from then on it'll be CDs made out of custard, Metallica performing their new album on kazoos and Celine Dion fully embracing the happy hardcore sound.

Sheer madness, I tell you.

Thankfully, we're some way from that – we're still in the "here's an ancient record, let's update it" phase. Here's an idea that not many other people seem to have grasped – if you recorded the song in the first place, why not have a go at updating it yourself? Obviously, if you let someone else do it, you can play the "We're amazed that someone remembered the song and liked it enough to remix it, it's an honour" card, but there's something to said for the "If you want a job doing properly you've got to do it yourself" approach, which is the one Mr Josh has gone for.

He obviously thinks the song's good enough to cut the mustard (which is a stupid phrase and I apologise for using it), but that's not good enough for him, oh no. Instead of the spaced-out saxophone festival of the original – there's not many songs where a saxophone actually sounds like it needs to be there, but Infinity is one of them – we now have a complete strip-down and rebuild. If there's a Haynes manual for this song, Guru Josh made full use of it, because although the basic riff's still there, this is a very different song indeed.

The previous lyrics were a tad dated (the entire lyrics are listed in the second sentence of this review), so out they go and in comes a proper singer with proper lyrics; he's even gone to the trouble of using the title of the song.

They've spared no expense here, folks.

I'll be honest with you, I love the original Infinity but to be fair it is showing its age a little bit, so for a change an update genuinely does make sense and when it's done as well as this one has…well, that makes for a very happy reviewer.

WIRE TO WIRE

Razorlight

IT took me a few listens before I finally worked out why this song wasn't doing it for me.

It's a very simple song, a handful of verses, no chorus to speak of, a piano and Johnny Borrell seemingly pouring his heart out. What's not to like? Well, I suspect I'm going to be very much in the minority on this one, but to me this sounds like the band tried a bit too hard on this song.

It goes along for just over three minutes, but there's no vitality to it, no energy, just a song that's been polished until you can see your face in it, and unfortunately those three minutes dragged by for me. Considering it's the first single off the new album, it's a bit disappointing. Like I said, this is going to be huge and it's going to become a lot of people's new favourite track, but this isn't their column, it's mine and I have to call it as I see it.

I can't help feeling that this song could've been far better.

Saturday, October 13-18
PRIOR to the West End this timeless and powerful musical fable of love, passion and redemption.
The story of two star crossed lovers Bily Bigelow, a smooth talking carney man and Julie Jordan a millworker - Carousel travels from the rocky shores of Maineto Heaven itself. The score includes The Carousel Waltz, If I Loved You, June is Bustin Out All Over and the classic You'll Never Walk Alone.
The show stars Britain's most popular soprano Lesley Garrett CBE playing the pivotal role of Nettie.

WE'RE GOING ON A BEAR HUNT
Thursday October 23 - 25
THE ever popular Smarties Book Prize winner We're Going On a Bear Hunt is brought vividly and noisily to life on stage with a versatile score.

Look out for the gigantic swishy swashy grass, the splishy splashy river and the thick oozy, squelchy mud fight. What a surprise awaits you in the cave on the other side of the dark forest!

THE WOMAN IN BLACK
Monday October 20-25
MORE than three million people have lived to tell the tale of The Woman in Black, one of the most exciting, gripping and successful theatre events ever staged.
A lawyer obsessed with a curse that he believes has been cast over him and his family by the spectre of a 'Woman in Black' engages a scepticial young actor to help him tell his terrifying story and exorcise the fear that grips his soul.
It all begins innocently enough, but then, as they reach further into his darkest memories, they find themselves caught up in a world of eerie marshes and moaning winds. The borders between make believe and reality begin to blur and the flesh begins to creep.

THE STABLES

THE CHRISTIANS
Friday 17 October, 8pm
THE Christians sold millions of albums and singles throughout the 1980s and early 90s and now it's time to hear once again soulful pop gems such as Forgotten Town, Hooverville and their number 1 cover of the Isley Brothers' classic Harvest For The World. 2008 sees the release of the Christians Live & Unplugged album, with Garry and the guys touring both the UK and abroad with their unplugged set.
Tickets £19.50

GERRY CROSS THE MERSEY
Saturday 18 October, 8pm
AN Evening With Gerry & The Pacemakers
For some time Gerry & The Pacemakers were the Beatles' nearest competitors in Britain, with three consecutive number one UK hits – How Do You Do It, I Like It and You'll Never Walk Alone. They defined Merseybeat at its most entertaining, performing bouncy, catchy, memorable tunes driven by rhythm guitar and Marsden's chipper vocals.
Tickets £22

ME, MARLEY & I - BY YAW ASIYAMA
Saturday 18 October, 8.45pm
AGAINST the backdrop of an armed revolution, a young Ghanaian boy sets out to conquer the world and his adolescent emotions, armed only with his grandmother's words of wisdom and a passion for Bob Marley's music. This play brings to life a different time in a different culture, with great friendships, courage and sacrifice. Told to a backdrop of live Marley music, this coming-of-age story is a compelling must-see, told with wit, humour and deep passion.
Tickets £9.50 in advance, £11.50 on the door

MUGENKYO TAIKO DRUMMERS
Sunday 19 October, 8pm
THE name Mugenkyo means 'limitless reverberation', with thundering rhythms from the huge Japanese Taiko drums counterpointing the graceful harmonies of the bamboo flute. Mugenkyo have developed a gritty, passionate performing style that is thoroughly contemporary yet retains the traditional spirit of Taiko.
Tickets £16.50, £18.50, meal deal £26.50, £28.50

JEREMY HARDY
Monday 20 October, 8pm
JEREMY Hardy's perhaps best remembered as a much younger man, but he says there's nothing he can do about that now! Still alive and able to speak unaided for lengthy periods, this show will not so much be a one-man show as an understaffed cavalcade!
Tickets £15

GARY WILMOT
Tuesday 21 October, 8pm
WITH a versatility that takes him from classical Shakespearean roles to donning the mane of the Cowardly Lion in The Wizard of Oz at the Royal Festival Hall this summer, An Evening with Gary Wilmot is for anyone who loves their music with a bit of theatre, or their theatricals with a bit of music! Tonight the star of Me And My Girl, Carmen Jones, Oliver and Chitty Chitty Bang Bang sings favourites old and new.
Tickets £21.50

STANTONBURY CAMPUS THEATRE

CITY OF ANGELS
Wednesday - Saturday, October 22-25
FROM the company that brought you, Buddy The Musical, Company MK - are this year using outstanding local talent and a long standing high reputation to bring City of Angels.
A deliciously funny spoof of 1940s film noir and hard-boiled detective fiction, featuring a jazz score by late Broadway composer Cy Coleman.
Christine Reynolds directs and choreographs this movie-within-a-play-within-a- musical with musical direction provided by Adrian Johnson.
City of Angels follows Stine, a Hollywood scriptwriter and the movie he's writing, a double story that plays out in parallel stories on stage.
One portrays the battle of Stine, a mild-mannered writer struggling to prevent his screenplay from being mutilated by a tyrannical producer, Buddy Fiddler.
The other depicts the unfolding of the screenplay itself, in which Stine's alter ego, the detective Stone, sidles through a Hollywood netherworld of vicious thugs and femmes fatales.
The juxtaposition of real life and "reel-life" occurs on a number of levels as Stine weaves the people around him into his characters on the big screen.
As such, while different actors play Stine and Stone, almost every other actor in the musical portrays someone in both the real life and the 'reel-life'.
The two stories are, in effect, happening simultaneously. Miss it at your peril.
Performance time: 7.30 pm (plus a matinee at 2.30 pm on Saturday. Box Office: 01908 324422.

Tickets £6. Doors 7.30pm

KRAFTY KUTZ
ONE of the UK's biggest DJs arrives in Milton Keynes this month to play at Beatcheck, Revolution Bar, on Friday, October 17.
Krafty Kuts regularly headlines the world's biggest clubs including London's Fabric, and has won a string of Best DJ awards in the UK, Australia and Ibiza for his efforts.
His arrival in Milton Keynes is a coup for Beatcheck, which aims to get top name quality DJs to the city, and organisers are advising fans to get there early to see him play.
Promoter Jason Charles said: "Krafty Kuts is a long term hero of ours. He's a real legend who has shaped modern-day dance music and we are honoured to have him grace the city decks.
"He is also one of the best DJs at getting the crowd going. His party breaks, scratching and huge remixes get the club pumping no matter where he plays and we reckon that Milton Keynes will be no exception."
Krafty will be joined on the night by Beatcheck's ever-present supply of resident DJs who will be laying out beats breaks and underground dance music to make the passing beer boys' heads pop off. There will also be some fresh new residents who have been given a chance to warm the club up for the man himself.
Doors open at 9PM and Krafty takes the decks from 11pm – 1am, tickets £4-5

Ultimate ham and eggs

THIS month I have decided on the ultimate ham and eggs.

How many of us cook ham at home? Don't just save it for Christmas with cloves pressed into it like our mothers showed us.

Just boil the meat, cool it down and then slice some off and make a great sandwich.

Another great thing about ham is there's no need to soak it, for days any more to get rid of the saltiness, just over night is fine.

You can also make the cooking liquor into a great pea and ham soup by simply adding onions carrots and potato.

You can have it with mash or even chips if you wish.

A nice, warm and comforting meal, the ham can be cooked at the weekend, while you're doing something else.

At the pub we cook, boned and rolled ham joints slowly overnight.

Serve them on creamy mash with a poached egg and mustard sauce.

Warm up or have cold and don't forget those packed lunches.
Happy Cooking!

EMMA GILCHRIST

HONEY-ROAST HAM
WITH MUSTARD SAUCE AND POACHED EGG

Serves 4

Ingredients
Whole Ham 800g-1Kg and soaked overnight in water
1 onion, peeled & chopped
2 carrots, peeled & chopped
2 peeled potatoes
1 bay leaf
5 cloves
1tsp black peppercorns
A few sprigs of thyme for the sauce
3-4 large shallots, peeled and finely chopped
40g butter
1tbsp flour
2 tsp Dijon or English mustard
2 tsp wholegrain mustard
60ml double cream
300ml chicken stock cube
Salt and freshly ground black pepper
For the glaze
200g clear honey
60g grain mustard

Method
1. Put the ham in cold water in a large pot with the onions, carrots, bay leaf, potatoes, cloves and peppercorns. Cover with cold water, bring to the boil and simmer for 2 _ to 3 hours. Remove the ham from the cooking liquid and leave to cool. Keep the liquid to make soup if you want. Just add a tin of marrowfat peas and blitz in a food processor. Then add leftover pieces of ham.

2. Pre-heat the oven to 200C/gas mark 6. While the ham is cooking you can start on the sauce, which is based on a béchamel a basic white sauce. Cook the shallots in the butter until soft. Add the flour and stir well. Add the mustards and slowly stir in the chicken stock and cream. , stir well to avoid lumps forming, add salt and pepper and simmer for 10 mins.

3. When the ham is cool remove the outer layer of fat with a knife, leaving about _ cm of fat to protect the meat when roasting.
Mix the honey and mustard together to form a paste. Put the ham into a baking tray, score the fat in a criss-cross pattern, then spread the honey over the ham. Bake for about 30 minutes until golden.
Bring the sauce back to the boil and serve poured around the meat.

ARTLIFE

GILBERTO ZORIO
Milton Keynes Gallery
October 1-January 18, 2009

GILBERTO Zorio belongs to a generation of Italian artits who in the mid 1960s pioneered a radical and distinguished artistic movement which later became known as Arte Povera.

Through the use of often modest and humble materials, these artists posed profound questions about the very nature of human existence.

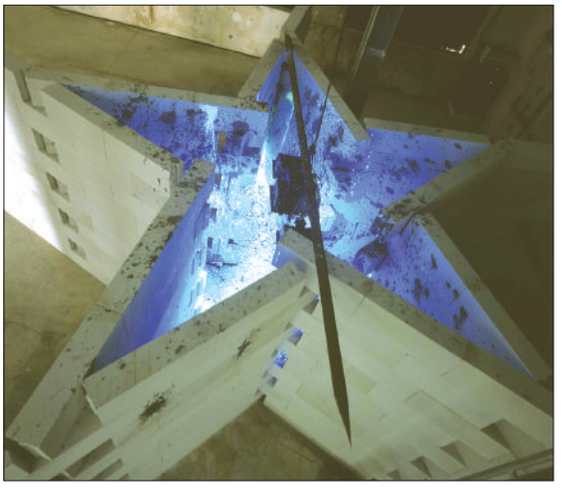
This is his first solo exhibition in the UK and will include new installations made specifically for Milton Keynes Gallery's spaces combined with works that trace the historical points of his practice.

A large star made from a tower of bricks will fill the central gallery, Zorio regularly constructs such stars, each one is unique to the space in which it is sited.

To the viewer the construction of the star only reveals itself as they navigate the towering elevations.

Inside these structures is a 'sercet place' the viewer can peer through gaps in the bricks to a space filled with flickering light and florescent phosphorus spatterings.

The exhibition will be accompanied by a related events programme.



Wonder at what they are: Each of Gilberto Zorio's stars is unique to the space in which it is sited

MK BUSINESS

Small businesses – bigger pressure

THE Federation of Small Businesses (FSB) has sent results to the Bank of England of a snap poll demonstrating the devastating impact of the credit crunch, and has called on its Monetary Policy Committee to cut interest rates as soon as possible.

Over 6,000 businesses responded to the poll over 14 days.

Figures released from the FSB poll reveal that over 80 per cent of respondents have seen their costs increased in the last year and 46 per cent had seen a decrease in trade, while most would back a reduction in interest rates by the Bank.

When asked about increases in the cost of finance such as loans and overdrafts, 40 per cent said they had seen increases in such facilities from the clearing banks.

A worrying 51 per cent had seen an increase in their payment times from invoicing to full payment and this reflects the FSB's concern that large companies are improving their cash flow on the backs of their smaller suppliers.

FSB Thames Valley Regional Chairman, Robin Lawrence said: "These startling figures show that the credit crunch is trickling through to the small business sector. In these tough times it is proving increasingly harder for small businesses to rely on their savings and that is why it is so important for banks to be more willing to lend money and for larger firms to settle invoices on time.

"Small business survival is integral to the wellbeing of the British economy. That is why a cut in interest rates by the Bank of England is crucial. The Bank must set aside worries about inflation and look to giving the economy a vital boost."

The FSB is Britain's leading business organisation with over 215,000 members. It exists to protect and promote the interests of the self-employed, and all those who run their own business. More information is available at www.fsb.org.uk.

The FSB snap poll was undertaken online in the last two weeks of September 2008.

Use technology to beat the credit crunch

ADVICE on how to use technology to survive the credit crunch will be given by top business gurus in Milton Keynes this month.

Lars Lindstedt from Microsoft UK and Mike Morris from CISCO will be guest speakers at the free business breakfast being held at University Centre Milton Keynes on Tuesday, October 28.

UCMK Dean Dr Keith Straughan said: "We've organised this event to help local businesses think about IT solutions to overcome the challenges they face in this complex and fast changing economic climate.† The credit crunch is impacting all of us so we have to examine how to adapt our practices and deploy innovative solutions to stay one step ahead."

The speakers will be giving an insight into new technologies and will explain the benefits to businesses.

There will also be an opportunity to look around the facilities at the brand new UCMK building in Central Milton Keynes, which also has conferencing rooms available for local companies, an impressive art gallery and a coffee shop open to the public.

The event is free of charge and will take place at the new UCMK building at 200 Silbury Boulevard, CMK, from 8.30am-11am on Tuesday 28th October 08.

Places are restricted and should be booked in advance by emailing julie.bloxham@mkcollege.ac.uk or by calling MK 684050.

Founder's retirement leaves space for two

CENTRAL Milton Keynes-based Emberton Dale has appointed two new board members – Lynsey Geddes and James Scott.

The new appointments, which are part of the company's five-year growth plan, follows the announcement that John Emberton, who jointly founded the full service marketing and PR agency 26 years ago, will retire in November 2008.

Lynsey and James join managing director Richard Hackman and financial director Linda Emberton as shareholders and 'hands on' directors with responsibility for the day-to-day running of the company.

Lynsey joined Emberton Dale as an experienced account manager in 1993. After successfully working with clients including IBM, Parcelforce and Woburn Estates she was promoted to account director in 2003. Lynsey's appointment to the board coincides with embarking on her new role as client services director.

Copywriter James had gained extensive experience at London agencies including Saatchi & Saatchi and DMB&B before joining Emberton Dale in 2003. He has worked on a diverse range of clients including British Airways, Toyota, BP and Carlsberg Tetley.

Lynsey said: "This has been a planned transition and I've been looking forward to joining the Emberton Dale board for quite a few years now. Combining client servicing at a senior level with my board responsibilities is an exciting new challenge. It's an interesting leap from being an employee to becoming an owner of the company."

POSITIVE FUTURES? POPULATION AND ENERGY - LECTURE AND DISCUSSION, 18 OCTOBER FROM 12:30

LOCATION: Open University

A selection of talks from leading scientists ranging from alternative energy sources, what sedimentology tells us about past climate change, climate prediction and the ocean-atmosphere interaction. There will also be time for a debate on population management with time for you to air your own views. This event is being put on by the Workers Educational Association and the Open University. Attendees need not have any detailed knowledge of the subject.

ADULT

MAGIC OF OXYGEN LECTURE AND DEMONSTRATIONS FOR CHILDREN, 20 OCTOBER 1.30PM

LOCATION: Open University

The Magic of Oxygen is all about the weird and wonderful properties of atoms and molecules, and one of the most important molecules oxygen.
You can expect a few flashes and bangs along the way as some explosive mixtures are conjured up as Mike Batham and Rob Janes entertain you with a light-hearted look at the work of scientists such as Boyle, Newton and Priestley, and recreate some of their experiments in unusual ways.

GREEN MISSION: CRANFIELD UNIVERSITY AND NISSAN SHOWCASE 20-26 OCTOBER ALL DAY

LOCATION: thecentre:mk

Just drop by to thecentre:mk to see this, and other displays. Nissan's exciting Qashqai car has been on sale for a just over a year now and last autumn seven test drivers from the Nissan Technical Centre Europe (NTCE) in Cranfield, Bedfordshire, proved that it could drive more than the entire length of the UK from Land's End to John o'Groat's. Come down to thecentre:mk any day between Monday 20 October and Sunday 26 October to see the Nissan Qahsqai and find out about the technology behind it.

ALL

FOSSIL DETECTIVES TALK & DEMONSTRATIONS, 21 OCTOBER FROM 7.30PM (DOORS OPEN 6.15PM FOR FOSSIL IDENTIFICATION BY OPEN UNIVERSITY EXPERTS)

LOCATION: Open University

Come along and join us for a fantastic fossils evening as part of the Milton Keynes Science Festival. Meet Hermione Cockburn, presenter of the Open University and BBC Four series Fossil Detectives, for a unique insight into this fascinating new series and have your fossil and geological finds identified by an Open University expert.

WHAT CAUSES OBESITY? - TALK AND DEMONSTRATIONS, 22 OCTOBER, 2PM

LOCATION: University of Buckingham

There will be no charge for this event and the festival can assist with your school's transport costs to the University of Buckingham. How do we regulate our body weight? Is it all about self-control, or can we blame our genes, or even our nutrition in our mother's womb. Is there any hope of reversing the obesity epidemic?

CHILDREN

HOW YOUR BODY WORKS SHOWCASE, 25 OCTOBER, ALL DAY

LOCATION: thecentre:mk

Are you interested in how life works, what makes you healthy and what makes you ill? The Division of Science of the University of Bedfordshire will be running an interactive stand highlighting health, nutrition and the human body with displays, models, and quizzes plus a team of scientists to answer your questions.

ALL

XSCAPE TO SPACE SHOWCASE, 25 AND 26 OCTOBER, ALL DAY

LOCATION: Xscape

This is your chance to talk to scientists, engineers and students who work on space missions.
Come along to Xscape on 25-26 October to see the missions that Milton Keynes is sending to the Moon, to Mars, to a comet and more besides.
And look out for some surprise additions to the Xscape video wall!

ALL

DARWIN AND EVOLUTION SHOWCASE, 25 AND 26 OCTOBER, ALL DAY

LOCATION: Midsummer Place

Look at the grouping of different species of mammals, from such distantly related examples as the elephant and the bat, to more closely related examples such as ourselves and our closest living relative, the chimpanzees. See how DNA evidence which was unavailable to Darwin has shed new light on the relationships between species.

ALL

AWESOME MOLECULES SHOWCASE, 25 AND 26 OCTOBER, ALL DAY

LOCATION: thecentre:mk

Chemistry is all around us and chemical transformations can be spectacular. Come along and try some hands on experiments as well as watching some amazing demonstrations. Our experienced chemists will ensure your safety and answer any questions you have. You'll see chemical snow trees, chemical volcanoes, magic handkerchiefs, chemical serpents, magic ice and much more.

CHILDREN

ROBOTS, GAMES AND SECURITY SHOWCASE, 25 OCTOBER, ALL DAY

LOCATION: thecentre:mk The University of Bedfordshire will showcase the latest games technology and tools for interacting with virtual reality environments as well as Motion Capture using optical and mechanical equipment. We will demonstrate hi-tech robotic equipment including humaniod robots, robotic arms and wheeled robotic platforms. These are dedicated to teaching techniques used in space exploration, decommissioning nuclear plants and performing surgery. We also have kits, such as Lego Mindstorm, so you can build, program and test the robots and dismantle andrebuild PC hardware. Finally we will also demonstrate a range of biometric devices such as 2D and 3D face recognition, iris scanners, palm geometry, palm vein readers, and fingerprints and signature recognition equipment.

ALL

BIG DRAW HANDS ON DRAWING EVENT, 25 OCTOBER, 2PM-9PM

LOCATION: Campbell Park Big Draw is an annual event that encourages people to explore different ways to draw. This year Milton Keynes Gallery's Big Draw will be held in Campbell Park in marquees and will use the theme of art and science to inspire families to think about playing with light, natural materials and chemical reactions. Come along and make your own artwork with a team of creative people from organisations across the city including professional artists. Catering and toilet facilities will be on site. No booking or experience necessary – suitable for all ages. Just wrap up warm and come and have a go! The event continues into the evening with a light and fire display and presentation of work made during the afternoon.

CHILDREN

OBSERVING THE UNIVERSE TALKS AND GUIDED OBSERVING, SATURDAY 25 OCTOBER, 2PM

LOCATION: Open University

We present a day of Astronomy here at the Open University. Running from 2pm until late in the evening, the day will begin with two presentations and a tour of the night sky. Once night begins to fall, we will (weather permitting!) move across to the Open University's George Abell observatory, for an evening of guided observing, where the night sky will be revealed in all its glory through telescopes, binoculars, and the naked eye.

ROCK AROUND MIDSUMMER PLACE SHOWCASE, 25 AND 26 OCTOBER, ALL DAY

LOCATION: thecentre:mk and Midsummer Place The Department of Earth and Environmental Sciences (Open University) present a unique opportunity to discover the origins of the rocks beneath your feet! Take part in a geological tour of the shopping centre and see how much geology we take for granted in our normal lives. This display will include real dinosaur and other fossils, a chance to get your hands on things you have seen on BBC-OU Fossil Detectives TV programme. Bring your fossil finds along for an expert consultation. Discover the history of radioactivity and see a real Geiger counter in operation and how natural radioactivity works. Also spectacular volcanic rocks from around the world. See an erupting volcano and discover how earthquakes are detected with a real seismometer. And much much more!

SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY USING RE-CYCLED MATERIALS SHOWCASE, 25 OCTOBER, ALL DAY

LOCATION: thecentre:mk

Come and find out how and why students from Water Hall primary school made models in last years science club! You can even have a go at making your own circuits and moving vehicles from re-cycled materials.

ECOSYSTEMS IN ACTION SHOWCASE, 25 AND 26 OCTOBER, ALL DAY

LOCATION: Midsummer Place

Ecosystems consist of living plants, animals and microbes and non-living components of our planet: the atmosphere, soil minerals and water. Visitors to the exhibit will be shown real measurements of the greenhouse gas, methane, using some the latest technology available. You can also see worms breaking down waste matter and a functioning ecosystem, literally in a bottle! Experts will be on hand to discuss the various exhibits and to discuss their relevance to environmental problems such as climate change.

THE BOX OF STARS SHOWCASE, 25 AND 26 OCTOBER, ALL DAY

LOCATION: XScape

This floor-standing exhibit provides stereoscopic moving images of our part of the Milky Way. You'll see 30,000 stars in an astonishingly immersive 3-D experience. You can fly through many clusters, such as the Hydes and the Pleiades, or follow the sweeping paths of bright white newly formed stars that trace our arm of the galaxy, for truly amazing views that you will never have experienced before.

FACE RECOGNITION SHOWCASE, 25 AND 26 OCTOBER, ALL DAY

LOCATION: thecentre:mk

The Buckingham Imaging Group (BIG) is bringing the prototype smartpone SecurePhone to thecentre:mk! Come and see the next generation in secure communication and talk to the scientists and engineers behind its development. SecurePhone is a European co-funded project that aims to create a new mobile communication system enabling biometrically authenticated users to communicate in a secure and highly dependable way.

EXTRASOLAR PLANETS SHOWCASE, 25 AND 26 OCTOBER, ALL DAY

LOCATION: Xscape

Planet Earth is home to a huge variety of living organisms, yet people have always been fascinated by the idea that life might exist elsewhere in the Universe. In the last 13 years the number of planets identified outside our Solar System has risen from none to over 300. Come to Xscape and explore the ways to find planets and if there might be life on them.

MUTABLE MATTER SHOWCASE, 25 AND 26 OCTOBER, ALL DAY

LOCATION: thecentre:mk

Mutable Matter is taking you to another dimension: the nanoscale. New technologies such as nanotechnology are making use of the properties of matter at the level of atoms and molecules. You can have a look at how scientists are creating images of atoms and molecules, discuss any new technology from stain proof trousers fabrication to particle accelerators and have a go at creating your own model of this fascinating space.

MK DONS - MAKE SOME NOISE! - MASS EXPERIMENT, 25 OCTOBER, 3PM-5PM

LOCATION: stadiummk

On Saturday 25th Oct, during the MK Dons v Cheltenham match, Dr David Sharp of the Open University will determine just how loud the MK Dons fans really are by recording their 'roar'! During half time, he will use a sound level meter to discover how many decibels the crowd can generate. He will also hold a shouting competition to find out which section of the stadium contains the loudest fans!

HOW CHILDREN LEARN ABOUT SCIENCE TALK AND DEMONSTRATIONS, 27 OCTOBER, 7.30PM

LOCATION: thecentre:mk

Why is scientific knowledge different from other kinds of knowledge and how do children learn about science? Alan Martin will explore these questions from the perspective of developmental psychology.

OXLEY WOODS: GREEN CONSTRUCTION EXHIBITION, 28 OCTOBER, 11AM-5PM

LOCATION: Oxley Woods

The 145 properties located at George Wimpey's Oxley Woods development have been constructed from sustainable materials and employ unique features as well as exceptional layouts to maximise space and light. Come along to Oxley Woods and visit the homes and see the site to learn about how these houses were developed.

BIOMETRIC IDENTIFICATION: APPLICATIONS, ISSUES, CHALLENGES TALK & DEMONSTRATIONS, 29 OCTOBER, 7.30PM

LOCATION: University of Buckingham

During the past decade, biometric identification has transformed itself from science fiction into science fact; providing security and convenience in many day-to-day activities. This talk aims to give an overview of biometric identification technologies, highlight some of the reliability and privacy issues and explore current research activities aimed at addressing these issues.

THE OBESITY EPIDEMIC TALK AND DISCUSSION, 29 OCTOBER, 7.30PM

LOCATION: Christ the Cornerstone Church

Professor Mike Cawthorne Director of the Clore Lab at the University of Buckingham will highlight the nature of the current epidemic and the healthcare implications and indicate how the epidemic might be reversed using nutritional, behaviour and pharmacological approaches.

CLOSING EVENT CELEBRATION, 31 OCTOBER, 5PM

LOCATION: Eco-Park

Our closing event will celebrate the achievements of the festival. We will announce the winners of the Science in Milton Keynes and Design and Alien Lifeform competition and display the finalists. You can also visit the Eco-Park during the day at a reduced price.

REDUCED £75,000 £599,995

Rarely do we have the opportunity to sell a brand new 5 bedroom barn conversion with all the trappings of a listed period building (former granary) with the benefits of the latest and highest specification set in a private development of former farm buildings and private spacious gardens. On the edge of the Ousel Valley park. Leaving the long gravel private drive takes you to the train station (short walk) or Central Milton Keynes (short drive), as this development isn't miles from civilisation, but in the heart of the new city. On arrival at site you could be anywhere you want as a mature hedge runs the whole boundary. Old with benefit of new and with the amenities of Milton Keynes on your doorstep. Key in office.

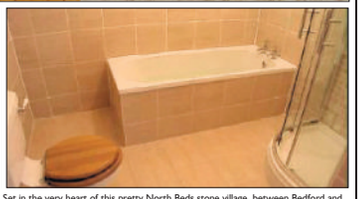
HUGE ROOF TERRACE £210,000

This huge 3 double bedroom apartment with a study offers fantastic views across the city. This apartment also offers separate kitchen with granite worktops, over 21ft lounge plus large roof terrace for outside living. Viewing is essential, call Taylors New Homes now!

AMAZING VALUE! £156,000

A very versatile home with garage, as living accommodation is spread over 3 floors. This means the home offers 2 or 3 receptions. Situated in this popular West Milton Keynes area with sought after school catchments. Please note: This property is available on a low cost housing scheme for key workers or first time buyers. Main photo of house type on left.

BRAND NEW THATCHED COTTAGE £335,000



Designed for the customer looking for a quality home in a peaceful village location. Set in the very heart of this pretty North Beds stone village, between Bedford and Olney. A desirable collection of 6 authentic period style cottages. All finished with sympathetic 'old touches' but incorporating all the high specification and convenience of brand new. This 2/3 bedroom authentic cottage boasts a popular double aspect layout with spacious living room and a 3rd bedroom which has a additional adjoining door to the master bedroom. To the front is a mature hedge row onto the High Street, which if you leave forms a wonderful private retreat setting. The rear garden is not overlooked and leads to you Oak framed carport. The charm of the old, the benefit of new. Arrange to see this quality development for yourself.

CLOSE TO THE CITY £199,950

Fantastic luxury 2 bedroom 8th floor apartment with spacious balcony and far reaching views. Forming part of this exclusive development surrounding a fountain square, with restaurants and brassieres. The lifts will take you to the edge of the car park where your allocated space is. Call Taylors New Homes now for incentives, key in office!

CONTEMPORARY ECO-HOME £210,000

Something different at last, with this high specification 3 bedroom contemporary house with generous plots. Situated on a spacious airy development of similar homes in the West of Milton Keynes with popular school catchments. The homes are finished to a high standard specification and boasts large expanses of glass and high ceilings. Less need for lights on, highly insulated latest solar panel technology, and low carbon emissions in contrast these properties make ground breaking environment homes. This home will be significantly cheaper to run than similar homes. Arrange a viewing to see for yourself our show village.

AMAZING INCENTIVES £200,000

A three bedroom town house with fantastic master bedroom taking up the entire top floor. All bedrooms have wardrobes and outside there is a single garage. Situated on the North edge of Milton Keynes with quick access to Stony Stratford and Wolverton including train station. This property is ready to view, key in office!

GREAT FOR THE COMMUTER £114,950

These fantastic one bedroom apartments are great value for money. They offer an open plan kitchen, dining and living area. Big master bedroom with a family bathroom. This apartment also has an allocated parking space. Situated near A5 and major trunk roads. Call us now to arrange a viewing!

REDUCED £100,000 £650,000

A collection of luxury detached homes situated on the edge of Milton Keynes. The very finest specification is shown through the 3 floors of accommodation. The very top floor is available as a 23' room or den, other little surprises include a vaulted master bedroom and 3 en suite/shower rooms. PART EXCHANGE AVAILABLE!!! (Please note: internal photos are similar internals.)

Women are losing battle of the boardroom

THE Government is urging firms to appoint more women directors after new figures showed that just one in eight board members of top companies were female.

Barbara Follett, deputy Minister for Women, has called on FTSE companies to appoint more womento theire boards, highlighting the increased profitability which can result.

New figures show only 12 per cent of FTSE board directors are female.

This is up one percentage point from last year and up five points from 2002.

At this rate it will be about 2050 before there are equal numbers of men and women on company boards.

One in four FTSE boards have no women on them at all.

Evidence shows that companies with a female chief executive or board directors achieve a ten per cent higher return on capital.

In the United States companies with the highest percentages of women board directors acheived a 53 per cent higher return on equity than those companies with the lowest representation.

The critical mass or 'tipping point' has been identified as having three or more women on a company's board. Women are no longer seen as outsiders and are able to influence board discussions and decisions with benefits both for the company's efficiency and introducing new family friendly policies.

> Women are significant consumers and this should be reflected on boards
> – Barbara Follett deputy Minister for Women

But last year, only 11 of the FTSE 100 companies had three or more women on their board.

Speaking at the Institute of Directors 'Women as Leaders' conference, Ms Follett said: "We have made progress, but not fast enough and many British boardrooms are still no go areas for women.

"Women are significant consumers and this should be reflected on boards.

"The business case for this is clear more women can drive up efficiency, innovation and profitability.

"But businesses need to become more family friendly and flexible, so men and women can choose how to balance work and family life and enable women to reach their potential at work.

"Three is the tipping point to accelerate progress so I challenge businesses to increase the number of women on their boards to at least this."

EMPTY SEATS: Figures show that only 12 per cent of FTSE board directors are female

Unit Development Manager

£27,594 - £29,728 p.a. (pay award pending)

The Council's Community Development Service plays a key role in developing and supporting services to local communities and engaging them in improving their neighbourhoods. As an experienced, motivated and creative community worker you will step into this exciting area management opportunity and possess a relevant qualification (e.g. degree, JNC etc) or substantial equivalent experience in the fields of community, youth or social justice. You will also be committed to working sensitively in a political context and have experience of establishing and participating in multi-agency partnerships across both the statutory and voluntary sectors.

You will lead the management and operation of the thriving community centres in your area and play a leading role in empowering local people to become active participants in the planning and development of their neighbourhoods. You will develop work in line with community needs as well as local and national agendas and have a proven track record of managing staff, budgets and providing community facilities and services, as well as sound knowledge of community development. Experience of working in diverse communities and engaging hard to reach groups would be advantageous.

You will be required to work evenings and weekends when necessary and adapt to the needs of the Service across the Borough as and when required. In return we can offer flexible hours and the opportunity to be part of a team that aims to be at the leading edge of neighbourhood working.

JORDANS

FAMILY MILLERS SINCE 1855

A company packed with opportunities

Jordans has recently announced its joint business venture between Jordans cereals and Ryvita, with the controlling shareholding held by Associated British Foods, the Ryvita brand's parent company.

Jordans Cereals was founded in the 1970s, but has been milling cereals in Biggleswade, Beds since 1855. We are proud of our strong environmental ethics; our belief in making high quality wholegrain cereals and bars and our links to the local community.

Ryvita also has a great reputation for making wholegrain and low fat crisp-bread. In the last 5 years Ryvita has also launched Ryvita Minis, Ryvita Goodness Bar & Ryvita Thins with a high profile advertising campaign featuring Fern Britten.

RYVITA

This position will be based in South Bedfordshire off the A1 corridor.

Customer Services Executive

Reporting to the Customer Services Manager, responsible for sales order management for a portfolio of UK and International accounts, you will build strong relationships and liaise with internal and external customers to provide the highest level of customer service. This will include order processing, price maintenance and balancing third party warehouse stocks.

You will monitor orders against forecasts and inventory, highlight potential service issues at an early stage and agree preventative action where possible. You will assist in planning International logistics, including preparation of shipping and regulatory documents.

The successful Customer Service Executive must have a proven track record of success in delivering excellent customer service, preferably in a FMCG environment, have the ability to build strong relationships with key internal and external contacts and have experience of ERP/EDI systems. Previous experience of export is desirable but not essential as the successful candidate will receive full training. You will need excellent administration and communication skills, both written and verbal. You will be a proactive, tenacious, flexible and professional team player. A French speaker would be desirable.

In return the successful candidate will be offered excellent benefits, including pension and life assurance, along with significant opportunities for personal growth and development.

Applications should be made in writing, including a comprehensive C.V. and stating your current salary to: Emily Foulser, Human Resources Department, W Jordan (Cereals) Ltd. Holme Mills, Biggleswade SG18 9JY.

Outgoing, persuasive, chatty, organized, fun, talkative, confident, positive, self motivated.....

.....these are the kinds of words used to describe our Advertising Sales team here at the MKNEWS (although other words are sometimes used!). If you're outgoing, persuasive and fancy working in a busy but fun media environment this may be the perfect role for you!

Office based

Advertising Sales Advisor

The MK News is part of Iliffe News and Media Ltd and is one of the UK's fastest growing regional newspapers. We're now looking to recruit a Sales Advisor to join our current busy team selling advertising solutions to local business.
Sales experience is not necessary (although is always helpful), but a confident and persuasive personality coupled with excellent customer service and administration skills are very important.
This role is predominantly office based, and would involve talking to existing and new customers about their marketing and advertising needs both on the telephone and face to face, therefore the ability to cold call is essential..
Candidates need to have an excellent telephone manner and be happy working within small teams and working to deadlines

We offer....
- £12,000 - £15,000 per year basic (dependant on skills and experience)
- Realistic and achievable bonus of £5,000 - £6,000 per year
- 25 days holiday per year
- Regular training and career development
- Contributory Pension and Healthcare after qualifying period

To apply please email your C.V. with covering letter to: hazel.basford@mk-news.co.uk or alternatively telephone 01908 242490 for an application pack.
Previous applicants need not apply.

As a member of Iliffe News & Media we also publish weekly newspapers and websites across Herts, Beds, Bucks, Cambs, Essex and the Midlands.

WHY ADVERTISE in mkclassified?

• We print more local news than any other newspaper, and as a result we have more readers looking through these pages. - At the last count we had over 139,000 readers each week!

• We personally hand out 3000 copies each week to commuters at MK railway station and put more copies into MK's residential areas, shops, bars, hotels and businesses than anyone else.

• Advertising with us costs less than any other local media and more importantly, it works! Contact us now to place you're advertisement.

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN MAINTAINING AND ENHANCING STANDARDS AND ETHICS IN MILTON KEYNES?

If the answer is yes, then you are invited to apply for the position of Independent Member of Milton Keynes' Council Standards Committee.

The Council hosts a Standards Committee to oversee the standards and ethics of the elected, co-opted and independent local authority members, including town and parish councillors within the Milton Keynes area.

The Committee's remit involves the local determination of standards investigations, advising and raising awareness on issues relating to ethics and conduct and promoting good ethical governance generally within councils and to their partners in delivering services to the community. This role also includes initial consideration of all formal complaints made against councillors.

To be eligible to apply you should not:-

- Have been a Member or Officer of Milton Keynes Council or of a Parish or Town Council within the Borough within the last five years
- Be politically active or represent or act on behalf of a political party
- Be a relative or close friend of a Member or Officer at Milton Keynes Council.

Ideally you should have:-

- A keen interest in standards in public life
- A wish to serve the local community and uphold local democracy
- Demonstrate high standards of personal integrity
- Be objective, independent and impartial
- Experience of dealing with complaints and customer care issues.

An allowance is payable together with reimbursement of travel and subsistence expenses.

Meetings are usually held during the evenings, although some meetings are held during the day.

For an information pack, telephone Lesley Sung on 01908 252325 or visit the Council's website: www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/council-democracy.

Closing date for applications: Friday 7 November 2008.

Interviews week commencing: 17 November 2008.

Save money servicing your car

VW, AUDI, SEAT, SKODA

Our customers come from all over the country because of our good name and personal service where they can speak to the engineer working on their car. Our work is second to none and they still save up to 50% on main dealer prices

Our workshop is not housed behind a flashy reception area where you hand your keys over and your car disappears not to be seen again until you pay your bill.

We run an open workshop where the customer is shown what's wrong with their car and you can discuss the solutions with the engineer.

Our workshop carry's the latest VAG approved equipment including

- VAG approved computer diagnostics
- VAG approved four wheel alignment
- Tyre fitting and computerised balancing
- Air conditioning services
- VAG trained technicians
- Reception with broadband access

We offer a full range of tuning services including engine tuning and track day preparation.

Current Offers
FREE Diagnostic check
FREE Safety Check
50% OFF Air con service

Having your car serviced with us does not affect your main dealer warranty

Dons conquer their own turf fear factor

'FAITH in the plan' was the key to MK Dons' 3-1 win over Carlisle United, according to boss Roberto Di Matteo.

The Dons brushed off the fear factor of their own home to overturn a one goal deficit for maximum points.

Since stadiummk opened over a year ago the Dons have struggled to get to grips with their own turf.

Yet on Saturday Di Matteo pinpointed the faith the players had in themselves and the game plan as the secret behind the success.

A brace from Peter Leven and a first goal for summer recruit Miguel Llera allowed the Dons to recover from Danny Graham's fourth minute header.

The former Middlesborough forward nodded on to Cleveland Taylor's delivery from the right which left Willy Gueret stranded in goal.

Only moments before Graham Kavanagh, making his debut for Carlisle after joining on loan for Sunderland, had unleashed a fierce drive for Gueret to block.

Di Matteo said: "We started off 1-0 down and the players showed a good, good reaction to that and I felt quite confident after we conceded because I saw the reaction of the players.

"I could see that they were pressing and going for it. I thought that sooner or later we were going to score."

And that goal came on the 38th minute when Leven was found on the edge of the area to hit low into the corner of the net, coming from his right boot which is allegedly his weaker foot.

In the second half Carlisle struggled to deal with the threat down the flanks from Luke Chadwick and Mark Wright.

Wright in particular had his eye on goal as last season's top scorer continues to hunt for his first of this campaign.

Instead it was towering defender Llera who opened his account when the Dons took the lead.

Leven's corner came right back to him but when he whipped in the second attempt Llera stormed to the far post with a thunderous header.

The centreback has played four times for the Dons since his arrival from Spanish side Hercules CF and has filled the hole at the back created by the injury to Danny Swailes, on top of that he is also a great threat at set pieces.

Carlisle had lost four on the bounce before the meeting at stadiummk.

Any chances they had of stealing a late point were truly ended when Jude Stirling, on as a make-shift striker, was brought down in the box and Leven confidently dispatched from the spot.

Di Matteo added: "What was good is they believed in their strength, in the game plan and what we do on a daily basis. We see what they can do in training we just ask for them to do it on Saturdays.

PREVIEWS

CREWE ALEXANDRA
League One
Saturday, October 18
Gresty Road KO 3pm

THE Railwaymen survived a relegation battle last term but are right back in it after ten games.

Crewe have won only two games - both at home - and are currently in the uncomfortable stage of four games without maximum points.

They have conceded a staggering 24 goals already and found the back of the net themselves 13 times.

Steve Holland's side will face a Dons team in confident move following the first back-to-back league victories since August.

Dons are also on the hunt for revenge after Crewe knocked them out of last year's FA Cup in the first round.

Meanwhile Canadian striker Ali Gerba will be back from his international duty to give Roberto Di Matteo more options up front.

STOCKPORT COUNTY
League One
Tuesday, October 21
stadiummk KO 7.45pm

DONS fans will remember the last meeting with Stockport County for ever - it was the day they clinched promotion to League One. But that was away from home, at stadiummk it was a different as Stockport won 2-0.

Both sides have adapted well to life in the new league although it is the Dons that sit higher in the table.

Since the summer Jim Gannon has lost his star striker Liam Dickinson to Derby County, although he is currently on loan to League One's Huddersfield.

Leon McSweeney and Tommy Rowe have kept Stockport in a comfortable position with three goals apiece.

If the same fixture last year is anything to go by the Dons could find it hard work to break down a stubborn Stockport outfit.

MK Dons decided not to appeal the red card Flavien Belson received in the Johnstone's Paint Trophy defeat to Bournemouth last week.

The midfielder was automatically handed a three match ban by the Football Association.

Belson was shown a straight red for serious foul play relating to a tackle on Cherries' Brett Pitman.

The Dons were considering appealing the decision made by referee Anthony Taylor but after reviewing the incident opted not to.

The ban started immediately leaving Belson to miss the Carlisle match and he will not be available for their game at Crewe or the home match against Stockport County.

GOAL scorers Miguel Llera and Peter Leven have been named in the League One Team of the Week.

Leven (2) and Llera put their names on the score sheet on Saturday when the Dons beat Carlisle 3-1 at stadiummk.

It is the third time Leven has been named in the divisional best eleven while Llera makes his first appearance.

Team of the Week in full:

Joe Lewis (Peterborough), Mark Little (Northampton), Miguel Angel Llera (MK Dons), Izzy Iriekpen (Scunthorpe), Aaron Lescott (Bristol Rovers), Andy Liddell (Oldham), Peter Leven (MK Dons), Fabien Delph (Leeds), Martun Woolfard (Scunthorpe), Tresor Kandol (Millwall), Jermaine Beckford (Leeds).

MK Dons under-18s came from 3-0 down to draw 4-4 with Watford.

Although a second-half hat-trick from Charlie Collins and Dan Powell rescued a point for the Dons, manager Mike Dove labelled the first-half an 'embarrassment'.

He said: "I kept the boys out on the pitch at half-time, I don't often get into them but I did on Saturday because the first half was embarrassing.

"Kurt Fox pulled off three excellent saves to keep us in the game."

But Dove did see the positives, he added: "We showed good character to come back from 3-0 and then 4-3 down, but the attitude and the application, particularly in the first half, were not up to the standards we demand."

Coulthard crash-tastic

MOTOR RACING

TIME is running out for David Coulthard to bow out of Formula One is spectacular fashion.

While most were looking at Lewis Hamilton's poor 12 place finish, as he appears to be making the title chase harder for himself at every race, the die-hard Coulthard fans were left disappointed when the Scotsman crashed out on the opening lap of the Japanese Grand Prix.

Coulthard was involved in a shunt at the rear of his car, as well as a hit from Williams' Kazuki Nakajima, causing damage to his RB4 which led him to lose control and slam into a tyre wall at 125mph.

A bruised Coulthard climbed out relatively unscathed from the car which had destroyed the chassis.

Speaking after the high-speed crash, Coulthard said: "I thought to myself, 'Come on, don't hurt yourself now – you've only a couple more races to do'.

"The impact was pretty hard, but I'm fine and I'll have no problem being ready for China."

Team mate Mark Webber faired better in an exciting tussle with Felipe Massa in the later stages but was disappointed to finish in eighth place.

However, for the second time this season Webber benefited from a steward's decision after the race.

Race officials decided to penalise Toro Rosso's Sebastien Bourdais with a 25 second punishment for an early incident involving Massa.

It meant Webber was promoted into the final points position allowing the Aussie to collected his 100th point in Grand Prix racing.

Webber said: "Felipe (Massa) had fresh tyres towards the finish and also a faster car, so I knew it would be difficult to keep him behind me as his traction was so much better. I pushed him to the limit when he made his overtaking move, but that's what it's about, trying to get another point for the team. It was too difficult against his car though and he passed me."

The result moves Webber up to tenth place in the Drivers' World Championship standings, while Coulthard is in a lowly 16th.

Red Bull are seventh in the Constructors Championship - five points behind sister car Toro Rosso.

Meanwhile, David Coulthard is expected to be part of the Formula One coverage as a pundit next year after he signed a two year deal with the BBC, who secured the rights to the sport.

Raiders suffer from Lightning backlash

Lightning's defence at full stretch against Bracknell Bees

LIGHTNING switched from bad to good to end the weekend in style.

The MK side lost 5-2 to Bracknell Bees but recovered on Sunday to beat Romford Raiders 4-1.

Their topsy-turvy start to Lightning's season has seen them win three and lose three of their opening six games - leaving them second from bottom in the English Premier League.

With Bracknell Bees on the back of two defeats it would usually be a good time to play the side, but Lightning were without their player-coach Nick Poole and Chris McEwen on the evening.

Bracknell opened the scoring through Joe Greener on the 14th minute.

It was a tight game and Lightning tested the Bees' net minder on a number of occasions with no break through.

Bracknell maintained their advantage through the second but in the final period the game exploded into life.

A goal within the first minute doubled the Bees' advantage then Joe Greener made it 3-0 on the 43rd minute.

Most would have given up hope at that point, yet Lightning persisted and it was Andre Smulter who finally got a score for the home side.

In fact Smulter grabbed a second, just like he did against the Bees two weeks ago, but Bees hit their forth and when Lightning pulled net minder Barry Holyhead Bracknell once again hit the back of the net.

A better display against Romford, who are rooted at the foot of the table, saw Lightning bounce back a day later.

Lightning began with intent on picking up two points away from home.

A goal from Matt Towalski, who earned the man of the match gong, helped them on their way in the first period.

Michael Wales joined in on the scoring in the second then Lightning were caught by surprise when Romford pulled one back.

Lightning then made their dominance in the match count when Ales Parez got onto the score sheet and Towalski finished as he started with a goal.

They face Romford again this weekend and will hope another win can get the momentum going in the camp.

■ LIGHTNING host Romford on Saturday, face-off at 6pm, then travel to Telford Tigers on Sunday, tip-off is at 5.30pm.

BASKETBALL

Time-out timely for Eagles as they hit Lions for 10

MK LIONS 81
(McNally 17, Brown 16, Williams 13)

NEWCASTLE EAGLES 87
(Bridge 22, Moore 17, Stewart 16)

A THRILLING match at Bletchley Leisure Centre resulted in defeat for MK Lions.

In a re-match of the BBL Cup final and the play-off final the Lions took on Newcastle Eagles only to fall six points short of their visitors.

A packed out crowd were on their feet in the opening quarter when a stunning one handed dunk from Carl McNally capped a 6-0 start by the Lions which prompted a Eagles time out. It was a break that paid off for Newcastle as they hit back with a 10-0 run of their own before McNally struck again.

Yorick Williams ended the quarter scoring for the Lions with a three pointer but they trailed 13-20.

Early in the second Tommie Eddie, Simon Emmerson, Liam Cort and Mike New were in all in the points to narrow the deficit to 23-26.

Although Robert Youngblood was able to go inside for two it was Newcastle who maintained the lead when Fabulous Flournoy grabbed the last shot of the half to lead 33-41.

The second half saw the Lions explode out of the blocks, and a 10-2 start to the third period gave them a slender 43-42 lead.

Williams and Terrell Brown were to thank for their long range three-point baskets.

It remained close for the rest of the quarter with the lead changing hands on a number of different occasions, but it was again the Eagles who were the happier side as they lead 63-65 going into the final stanza.

McNally, Lions' top scorer, pulled back the score early as the teams were locked at 72.

Newcastle looked to be tightening their grip on the game with a 11-5 tear giving them a 77-83 advantage.

Williams and McNally got the Lions to within two points at 81-83 with 30 seconds remaining, but Trey Moore secured the victory from the Eagles netting four consecutive free-throws.

■ ON Sunday MK Lions host Leicester Riders at Bletchley Leisure Centre, tip-off is at 4pm.

'Robbed' as Olney find themselves out of time

LOCAL RUGBY

SOUTH WEST TWO EAST

OLNEY felt robbed of a victory at the weekend thanks to a miscommunication with the referee.

In the closing moments Olney were on course for a 26-24 win over High Wycombe.

And Olney thought they had been awarded the win when the referee was understood to say 'time' so Olney kicked the ball to touch to end the game.

But the referee then awarded High Wycombe the lineout and with Olney confused at the situation they lacked composure which resulted in Wycombe scoring a last-gasp try to win the game.

Olney felt it was a controversial defeat which has left them in eighth place in the league.

Richard James had kicked 11 points while Scott Filler, Rhys Peakman and Chris Parnham scored the tries that looked to be giving Olney the win.

BLETCHLEY are in fifth place following their 30-14 win over Reading Abbey.

Fly-half Phil Harman was in fine form for Bletchley as he scored fifteen of their 30 points.

The only sour note in the game for Bletchley came in the second half when the influential Harman was stretchered off with a knee injury.

At their Manor Fields home Bletchley controlled the game with Paul Mellon's try and Harman's kick giving them a 10-0 advantage at the break.

They stretched it to 23-0 with further scores from Harman and Stuart Van Rooyen.

A late come back by Abbey saw them grabbed two tries back, sandwiched in between a Tom Hannell try, but it was too late for the visitors.

SOUTHERN COUNTIES NORTH

THIRD placed Milton Keynes recorded their fourth win of the season with a 10-33 showing at Beaconsfield.

A hat-trick of tries from scrum half Dan Pearson and one each from Sean White and Terry Woodhall earned MK a comfortable victory.

Andy White was also on hand to kick 11 points for the side.

A lapse in concentration allowed Beaconsfield to breach the Milton Keynes line twice however the result was never in doubt.

SPORTSSHORTS

Local football

WINSLOW United are third in the Molten Spartan South Midlands division one following their 2-2 draw with Bedford Town Reserves.

New Bradwell St Peter were held to a 1-1 draw with Hoddesdon Town while Stony Stratford Town were thrashed 6-2 by London Colney.

Buckingham Athletic drew 1-1 in their midweek game with Ampthill Town.

In division two Hadley handed Mursley United a 3-1 defeat while Old Bradwell United were on the wrong end of a 6-3 drubbing to Buck Students Union.

In the United Counties Premier League Newport Pagnell Town ran out winners at Raunds Town.

Goals from Darren Lynch (2), Vinny Shrieves and Rob Macdonald helped the Swans to a 4-0 victory.

Poulter China bound

IAN Poulter is all set for next month's Golf World Cup in China.

The Woburn professional is to team up with Ross Fisher for England.

Poulter top scored for Europe at last month's Ryder Cup but recently blew his chance to win the Korean Open.

Graeme McDowell will join Richard McGinley for Ireland and Ben Curtis will partner Brandt Snedeker for the United States.

Bradley Dredge and Richard Johnson are to represent Wales, while Scotland will defend their title with Colin Montgomerie and Alastair Forsyth.

The World Cup stroke play event consists of 72 holes over four days and incorporates alternating rounds of four ball, better-ball and foursomes.

The event takes place at Mission Hills Golf Cub in Shezhen and will start on Thursday, November 27.

Action wrestling

THIS Saturday Anglian Championship Wrestling takes place at Bletchley Leisure Centre.

The event will include the ACW Heavyweight Championship match between Matt Midas and Samson, A tag-team match, a last man standing battle between 'Rockstar' Crawling West and Vyper.

The ACW Light Heavyweight Championship is also up for grabs.

Tickets cost £7 for adults, £5 for children/OAP/student, £20 for a family ticket.

Doors open at 6.30pm with the event starting at 7pm.

Boss warns against complacency

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

FORGET Leeds away, Leicester at home and Scunthorpe away it is a trip to Crewe that has the MK Dons boss concerned.

The Dons travel to the Railwaymen on Saturday to face the side who are currently struggling in a relegation spot.

However, Roberto Di Matteo has urged his players not to be complacent, telling them: "This is not going to be easy."

In fact Dons' number one thinks the banana slip potential is huge, he said: "I'm very surprised to see where they are in the table because they are a good team and they play good football. The table is a bit deceiving I have to say.

"They will want to pick up some points, they're playing at home. I think it's probably going to be one of our toughest games."

Perhaps he should take former Chelsea team mates Dennis Wise and Gus Poyet to Gresty Road with him.

Both were in the crowd for the Dons' 3-1 over Carlisle United and Di Matteo has noticed the sun shines on his players when they are attending.

"They seem to bring luck because every time they come we seem to win.

"They said we played very well, we deserved to win and congratulated us."

Wise and Poyet are having a tough time at Newcastle and Tottenham respectively, and the Italian is aware of how quickly things go from good to bad in football.

"I've been in football all my life, I know you're only as good as your last result. You can have a couple of games where you lose and questions start to be asked."

If the Dons are as good as their last fixture then Crewe should be quaking in their boots.

Another impressive performance saw them record back-to-back victories in the league for the first time since August.

Once again Norwich loanee Luke Chadwick was on good form and when he was subbed in the second half, due to tired legs, the Cowshed started chanting 'sign him up, sign him up, sign him up' in the direction of the manager and the chairman Pete Winkelman.

But Di Matteo says with Chadwick only featuring in three games it is too early to think about a longer loan deal or a permanent signing.

"He's going to be here until the January window," Di Matteo added, "we'll have a bit more time to see how he settles in but he's brought a lot of quality into the team."

Chadwick is set to start on Saturday, but Florium Sturm (groin) is a doubt while Ali Gerba will be assessed on Friday when he returns from international duty.

■ ACADEMY striker Charlie Collins has been called up to the Republic of Ireland Under18s squad for their tour of France later this month.
